CHARLES C. CAIN
Associated Press Writer
DETROIT (AP) — The question of whether Supreme Court Justice John B. Swainson and former bail bondsman Harvey Wish took part in a bribery scheme was in the hands of a federal court jury today.

The case went to the all-white jury of seven women and five men late Thursday on the ninth day of a trial, in which the Organized Crime Strike Force in Detroit sought to tie Swainson to a conspiracy.

Swainson, who served as governor, lieutenant-governor and state senator in Michigan as well as on the Wayne County Circuit Court, took the witness stand Thursday and vigorously denied he ever had been offered a bribe.

He is charged with four counts of conspiracy and perjury, involving an alleged plot in which convicted burglar John J. Whalen was to pay Swainson $20,000 to help get the Supreme Court to order a new trial in a 1971 burglary case.

Co-defendant Wish, who was seldom in the spotlight during the trial, did not testify in his own defense.

Special U.S. Atty. Robert Ozer, head of the Strike Force, centered most of his final summation on Swainson as he accused the former governor of lying to a federal grand jury.

"With the complete arrogance that comes with an exalted position, John Swainson went into the grand jury room, said, 'I will tell you the truth,' and proceeded to tell untruths," Ozer said.

Ozer hit hard at Swainson during cross examination, particularly on half a dozen questions to which Swainson replied, "I have no recollection of that."

The prosecution contended Swainson had an equally faulty memory in an appearance before the grand jury last May 19. At the end of his appearance, he was informed he had been under FBI surveillance for several days. Two days later, Swainson requested a second appearance before the jury and changed answers to many of the questions he was asked the first time.

During his cross-examination, Swainson was asked several times if he remembered certain meetings with Wish and convicted burglar John J. Whalen, the government's key witness against Swainson.

Swainson said he had absolutely no recollection of the incidents but added he would accept the FBI tapes of the meetings as proof they had been held.

The ninth day of the trial was hardly underway when Swainson was called as the final defense witness. It was a surprise move, for a number of additional defense witnesses had been listed to be heard.

Swainson's counsel, attorney Konrad Kohl, asked the former governor point blank, "Were you ever offered a bribe in the case of People vs. Whalen?"

Swainson replied, "I was not."

Kohl then asked, "Justice Swainson, did you ever lie to the grand jury?"

Again Swainson answered, "I did not lie to anybody and certainly not to a federal grand jury."

Kohl contended much of the case against Swainson, long a power in state Democratic circles, was politically motivated. He said the federal investigation began when the Washington scene was dominated by Republicans, including former President Nixon; J. Ed-

New Buffalo Teen Testifies He Lied In Extortion Probe

By NICK SMITH
Staff Writer

A 14-year-old boy, granted immunity from prosecution, testified yesterday that he lied to police officers investigating the alleged extortion by a juvenile gang of money from a 73-year-old New Buffalo widow.

Michael Gene Altman, 14, of Route 1, New Buffalo, testified that he lied when he said that Jack and Harriet Rheinoltz sent their sons to extort money from Mrs. Emma Wederich, 73, who lives alone in a small home on Ferena Square, New Buffalo.

The testimony came yesterday in Berrien Fifth District court during the preliminary examination for the Reinoltz couple. They are charged with extortion and conspiracy to extort money from Mrs. Wederich.

The New Buffalo couple was arrested on the charges in part because of Altman's statement, it was learned yesterday in court.

After the hearing District Judge John T. Hammond stated "the quality of the case is not what it appeared to be" and he took the case under advisement. Also, he lowered the bonds for the defendants from $10,000 each to $1,000 apiece, allowing Jack Rheinoltz to be released from jail. His wife has been free on bond.

The judge indicated that he was taking the case under advisement so that he could study the transcript of the hearing. The testimony of Mrs. Wederich was difficult to understand, he said. A ruling on whether to bind the couple over to Circuit court will come within four weeks, he said.

Ten youths arrested earlier this month were petitioned to juvenile court for allegedly extorting more than $1,000 from Mrs. Wederich.

Altman testified yesterday about a statement he made to police the day he was picked up for questioning in connection

Milliken Set Deficit Too High, Foes Claim

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The state may not be facing a deficit as deep as the $300 million forecast by Gov. William Milliken, according to legislative Democratic leaders.

If that's true, they say hopefully, the state budget does not have to be cut by $150 million, as the governor has recommended. They suggest a cut of roughly $100 million or less might do the job.

Milliken has also proposed shifting the fiscal year and eliminating two restricted funds to come up with the rest of the $300 million. He issued a statement Thursday warning "there is no substitute for making the hard, tough decision now to reduce spending."

Leading Democrats met with Milliken's top budget official, Gerald Miller, however, and challenged his figures on which he based his prediction of the $300 million deficit. The prime targets were the estimated welfare caseload and what chance the state has of recovering money owed it by the federal government.

But Democrats cautioned that they are not certain Miller is wrong, or that the deficit actually is less than $300 million.

Milliken on Wednesday unveiled his plan to trim the budget by $150 million. It met instant criticism from majority Democrats who blasted the slicing of education and social services programs.

The House and Senate appropriations committees have 10 days to act on the order. The Senate panel has slated a meeting for next Wednesday to reject it.

The rejection of Milliken's first order is routine. The bargaining will now begin on what will be in the second order, to be issued within 30 days of the first's defeat.

And Thursday, Democrats were talking as though Milliken had overestimated the probable deficit. They focused on two reasons the governor set forth for the shortfall — a needed additional $130 million for welfare, and crossing off the books $40 million which Washington owes the state.

"We're saying they overestimated" the welfare caseload, said Senate Majority Leader William Fitzgerald, D-Detroit. Instead of a caseload of 211,000 as Miller predicted, Fitzgerald

Terror Dampens Town's Halloween Fun

CLERMONT, Fla. (AP) — A shadow of real Halloween terror hung over the citrus groves around this Central Florida town today in the specter of sadistic gunmen who "come out of nowhere and melt back into nowhere," police say. Despite around-the-clock patrols by 90 officers, police warned parents in rural areas of West Orange and South Lake counties to keep their trick-or-treaters off the streets tonight.

"On Halloween a lot of kids will be out pulling pranks, and with a lot of people this nervous, someone might get hurt," said Orange County Sheriff Mel Coleman.

The gunmen, armed with sawed-off shotguns and wearing black ski masks with eerie red eyeholes, have invaded six homes in the past four weeks, raping one teenager, smashing the eye glasses of four people and throwing liquid drain cleaner in the face of one woman. Local gun shops reported a flood of weapons being purchased, and the Lake County Sheriff's office investigated tips on the formation of a vigilante group of up to 150 armed men.

In an effort to calm the residents, state and local police agencies dispatched the 60 officers into the area Thursday night. "We've got to get these guys before some innocent person is killed," said one worried police official. "But they come out of nowhere and melt back into nowhere."

Authorities said they were fairly certain that all six incidents, in which the number of gunmen varied from two to three, were the work of the same persons. "They all appear to be related," said Coleman. "Some of their actions border on outright sadism. They seem to derive a sadistic pleasure from some of the things they do."

The most recent attacks occurred Tuesday night. In the first assault, thieves broke into a house about six miles south of this small citrus town, bound five occupants and raped a 19-year-old woman before ransacking the house and fleeing with $25. Then 20 miles and two hours later, two masked men burst into the home of James Kelly, 70, near Winter Garden, bound Kelly and his wife and two guests and stomped on their eyeglasses. One gunman ordered one of Kelly's guests, Larry Cheever, 35, to pray as they carted off several hundred dollars worth of cash and jewelry. "He said the Lord's prayer," recalled Cheever's wife, Lois, 47. "And when he finished, he said a small prayer for the gunmen. The gunmen made him say it again, leaving out the reference to them."

Two weeks ago, the gunmen burst into the house of Majorie Bray, 52, in west Orange County and poured drain cleaner into her eyes and mouth before escaping with a television set. Doctors first feared she had been blinded, but they said Thursday she would not lose her sight.

Police said the gang has netted several hundred dollars in cash, jewelry and small electrical appliances in its nighttime raids but appears to be motivated by thrills, not money. "They're ignoring valuable jewelry," said Lake County Chief Deputy Bob Tanner. "They've passed up a color television set, and in some cases they've taken things like frozen foods, meat, pots and pans and a toaster. 'They're just out getting their kicks. They get enjoyment from assaulting these people.'"

Michigan College Invites Uncle Sam Out

For months the administration at Hillsdale College and the U.S. Civil Rights Commission have been at loggerheads over the school's refusal to follow federal guide lines drawn to eradicate discrimination in education.

The fight somewhat resembles an iceberg, one tenth of which is visible above the waterline and the 90 per cent underneath the water.

A few years ago the school, through its toughminded, conservative president, Dr. George Roche III, informed Washington it could keep its educational grants with their typical strings attached; that Hillsdale would do it alone by way of tuition and alumni contributions.

The current hassle is a government maneuver to get at indirectly what it can not do by force of the law.

Being a private school, Hillsdale is not subject to government regulation of a socially oriented nature unless it accepts federal assistance.

Being a private school, also means the college has to scratch to keep afloat.

Just about all of the private schools gave up the ghost on total independence some time ago to campaign Washington for financial assistance and to lobby in the state capitals for a slice of the aid given to the publicly funded institutions.

The courts have not been receptive to the latter gambit which is commonly referred to as parochialism. However, in many states, including Michigan, a way has been found to get around this church-state separation ban on direct contribution to the private school. A loan or grant to a qualifying student has been accepted as not helping out the private school in which he enrolls.

Recently one of the federal district courts disputed that blinking of the eye in the state courts by ruling that a federal loan or grant and VA educational benefits are the same as a direct grant to the private school; and therefore, federal guide lines on housing, scholarships, dormitory standards, etc., apply.

On the strength of that decision, the Civil Rights Commission called in Hillsdale for a hearing in September. Somewhere between 10 to 14 per cent of its 1,000 enrollment attends the school by way of VA benefits or other federal assistance.

A few days ago the CRC informed Dr. Roche to fall into line or to lose future enrollment.

The order is not clear if the Commission proposes to withhold student aid for the balance of the 1975-76 school term.

Dr. Roche's board of trustees responded immediately with a unanimous vote to follow the position taken earlier on accepting federal help for the college itself.

Tuition is a sizeable element in a private school's budget, much greater than that exacted by the publicly financed institutions. Consequently any diminution in enrollment is felt much more keenly by the former. Up to a point, a student cutback can ease the financial problem for the public college or university.

The nub of the argument between Hillsdale and Washington is the bureaucratic interpretation of all civil rights legislation which does nothing more than to say a person shall not be discriminated against by reason of age, sex, color, religion or racial origin.

The bureaucrats contend that to put real meaning into the law it is necessary to give women, minorities and others a head start against the so called advantaged person.

It is reverse discrimination, but a number of the lower federal courts have swallowed that guff; and until the Supreme Court renders a definitive opinion or the legislative branch specifically writes out those administrative rulings, reverse discrimination will continue to keep common sense on the sidelines.

Dr. Roche and his trustees are fully aware of the difficulties lying ahead, but being of staunch churchly training recall that David managed to handle Goliath.

Doggone Immunity Should Be Removed

Diplomats, after all, are only people. Whether they come from authoritarian lands or democratic societies has a lot to do with what kind of people they are. That doesn't excuse the conduct of the more vulgar among them, but it does help explain it.

As one of the world's centers of diplomatic activity, the United States has experienced more than its share of boorishness on the part of persons attached to foreign diplomatic missions. Ask any New York policeman stationed in the vicinity of the United Nations or embassy row what he thinks of the conduct of some of the people who live and work there.

Diplomatic immunity is the reason diplomats are able to break the laws of a host nation and get away with it. Some of them seem to delight in exercising immunity, even from traffic accidents or vandalism. Others use it only when unavoidable, which is not often.

But the line has to be drawn somewhere, and the people of the small community of Palham, N.Y., have made their stand. Either the ambassador from Barbados to the UN will keep his police dog from running loose and biting people (eight incidents in three years) or the animal will be shot.

The ambassador, claiming diplomatic immunity even for his dog, is threatening any manner of dire events if that happens, including "possible international consequences." So be it. A more humane approach, as far as the animal is concerned, would be to impound the dog and hold it until the ambassador — in person — appears to apologize, pay a fine and whatever costs his ward has incurred.

WISCONSIN PROBATE LAW PRAISED

Editor, Previously citizens I've urged you to write your representatives, asking for a change in our probate laws. It's been years and as yet no results. I'm sure it would be more advantageous for us to have a probate law, as the State of Wisconsin has, known as the (do it yourself probate law), enacted in 1973. I've done some serious investigating and received proven information concerning the Wisconsin probate system, which is extremely favorable with the citizens of Wisconsin. I'd like to give you complete details, but since space does not permit, I will explain to the best of my ability.

When Governor Patrick J. Lucey of Wisconsin signed the historic law, he said the Wisconsin Probate Reform Act represents a great victory for the individual citizen. No longer does the law handle your personal affairs, no longer is the citizen required in effect to pay a tax amounting to hundreds or thousands of dollars for a service the individual wants to perform for himself. The heart of the Wisconsin law is "informal administration" of the estate. Any size estate can be probated without constant court supervision, as long as all heirs agree. But, in the case of complications, then a lawyer must be present. The State of Wisconsin is the first to adopt this wonderful (do it yourself probate law). So far more than 400 Wisconsin residents have taken advantage of (do it yourself probate). None of the 400-odd estates, probated without a lawyer, has resulted in litigation. Joanne Casey, a 42-year-old housewife from Greendale, Wis., with no legal help, probated a $50,000 estate of her father, saved her mother more than $1,000 in lawyer fees. She accomplished the whole business in less than six months. Her only education was high school. She said if she could do it, anyone could.

I am working for you senior citizens and voters. If interested in this probate problem then please write me, send for more detail to:

Gun Laws Pose New Civil War

ATLANTA — A bumper sticker here says it nicely: "Support the Second Amendment and the South May Rise Again." No part of the nation is as devoted to the preservation and proliferation of weaponry as is the South. Estimates are that 60 per cent of the people in this region own private shooters. In Atlanta, the guess is two guns for every man, woman and child.

If the South broke now from the Union, folks grin, its private and military arms stockpile would make it the third most powerful nation in the world.

Small wonder then that the increasing momentum towards new federal gun controls has become perhaps the third most controversial issue from Tennessee through Florida. "After inflation and unemployment," says a Georgia legislator, "gun control ranks with busing on the grand list of grumbles." Indeed, the lawmaker adds, if gun control does come, it will be resisted here even more violently than busing, to the point, he says, "approaching revolution."

The reason is that many Southerners believe gun control would be a much more serious federal invasion of their lives than forced busing. Less and less do they govern themselves. Southern citizens feel, more and more are they being told what to do by Washington, and they damn well better do it. "The line's got to be drawn somewhere," says Georgia orchard worker Lyle Ramsey, "and gun rights to me is it. If we give in on this one, well, I don't know."

The issue then is whether the South and the rest of the nation will allow government after 20 years, to assume a vast regulating power it has never had. "People talk about the right to shoot game, and the right to target practice, and the right to collect arms," says Alabama hunter and farmer Edward LeRoy, "but that's just small stuff. The real right is that people have the right to own guns in this country, for any reason, because the government doesn't have the right to prevent it. That's what must not change."

At that, the South is not as mossback as thought on the gun issue. A surprising poll by the National Opinion Research Center in 1973 indicated even then that three-fifths of Southern gun owners and four-fifths of non-owners felt some gun control was necessary, if not inevitable. Authorities here feel the fractions may be even greater now, certainly no less. Southerners may be stodgy, as a U.S. firearms agent in Atlanta says it, "But they aren't suicidal"; from 1871 to 1974 in Atlanta there were 738 homicides, 70 per cent by handguns.

Change then is likely to come to the South, federally mandated or no. Georgia, which for a hundred years had no firearms control, and for 65 years has had one that requires only a buyer's signature, is considering a tightening of at least handgun sales. Though Georgia Sen. Herman Talmadge considers gun laws to be "as useless as trying to legislate the weather," the state's lawmakers considered at least five bills on the subject last session, one of which would give permit authority to police to issue driver's licenses.

But Southern officials caution that change must come carefully, and with regards to the regional view.

The word here therefore is "slow." There must be a step by step realization that gun control is better than gun anarchy and a whole lot more compatible with liberty for all.

Candidates On Common Level

WASHINGTON — There has been endless controversy over the impact of the new campaign finance law upon the presidential contest, but hardly any attention has been given to the effect of the reform upon the congressional races.

Yet the new spending limitations may profoundly change the way in which senators and representatives are chosen.

For the first time, Senate candidates will be allowed to spend no more next year than 12 cents for each eligible voter in the state in their primary, and an equal sum in the general election campaign. Congressional candidates will be limited to $70,000 in the primary and an equal amount in the general election, regardless of the population in their district. An allowance of 20 percent is granted in the overall ceiling for fund-raising expenses.

Seventeen of the 65 Senate candidates who ran in 1974, before the law went into effect, spent beyond those limits. Nine of them were incumbents and four were engaged in contests for vacant seats. George McGovern, for instance, spent nearly $2 million, or almost $7 per voter, to retain his Senate seat in sparsely populated South Dakota.

Congressional candidates, who traditionally have a tougher time raising money than do senatorial candidates, were generally more thrifty. Only 22 of the 810 candidates in 1974 spent more than the new $70,000 limit — less than 3 percent of all the House candidates. Of those, 10 were incumbents and nine were involved in races for vacant seats.

The 1974 campaign-spending figures tend to indicate that the new limits are realistic and workable. The vast majority of congressional candidates were unable to raise more campaign money than is currently permitted.

In addition, no minor party candidate spent beyond the limits. Minor candidates may be no better off under the reform, but they appear to be no worse off, either.

The impact of the finance limitations will fall most harshly on wealthy candidates, who have enjoyed a tremendously unfair advantage over less well-endowed opponents. In the past, millionaires were literally able to buy elections by swamping their opponents with expensive television and print advertising and hiring hordes of well-paid workers.

The limitations also should whittle away some of the advantage that an incumbent has over his challenger. In 1974, more incumbents than challengers spent beyond the new limits, and this has generally been the pattern in other years.

It is simply easier for an incumbent congressman to raise money, particularly if he heads an important committee with a large constituency. Sen. Howard Cannon of Nevada, chairman of the Rules and Administration Committee, for instance, recently raised at one dinner party almost as much as he is allowed to spend under the law in his reelection campaign. If he were permitted to give just a few more dinners, no challenger could even compete with him.

The leveling effect of the new restrictions should move the country a step closer to the elusive goal of genuinely fair elections.

SJ Medical Center Will Open Monday With 14 Physicians

Fourteen Twin Cities physicians will move into the new Cedarwood Medical Center this weekend and will be seeing patients there Monday.

The center was three years in planning and construction. It is on a 4½-acre site at 820 Lester avenue, between Niles avenue and Willa drive, St. Joseph.

Owner of 32,000 square-foot three-story structure is Cedarwood Medical Center, a professional corporation composed of the 14 physicians. Cost of the building and site is in excess of $1 million.

Roger Swierbut, business administrator for the corporation, said the center has more physicians than any other professional corporation clinic in western Michigan, except for one at Petoskey.

The center is divided into six departments for family medicine, orthopedics, internal medicine, urology, general surgery and otolaryngology, Swierbut said.

The 14 physicians who will occupy the center are:

Rodolfo B. Bacolor and John H. Carter, 687 East Empire avenue, Benton Harbor; and Hari N. Malik, 1901 Niles avenue, St. Joseph, internal medicine.

Hector Bensimon, 777 Riverview drive, and R. Thomas Costello, 645 Riverview drive, Benton Harbor, urologists; William C. Beck, general and thoracic surgery; Thomas O. Miyata, general and vascular surgery; and Vernon F. Strand, general surgeon, all of 645 Riverview drive, Benton Harbor.

Edward C. Haupt, orthopedic surgeon, 777-D Riverview drive, Benton Harbor; W. Bertram Smith, otolaryngologist, 133 East Napier, Benton Harbor.

David W. Hills, John M. Pross, III, Wilhelm K. Rock, and Edwin G. Vann, all of 2821 South State street, St. Joseph, family medicine.

Dr. A.E. Vossler of Denver, Colo., an orthopedic specialist, has indicated he will be moving into the center in July.

The clinic contains X-ray facilities, a laboratory and a pharmacy. A physical therapy department will be added later.

The pharmacy will be operated by Robert and Rudy Gard of Sister Lakes.

Each area is designed for the doctor's specialty. The examination rooms, consultation offices and other facilities are so arranged that patients in many instances will be able to complete all their medical activities in the center.

The physicians in the medical center will have the capability of handling all outpatient problems on an immediate basis, Swierbut explained.

Equipment and furniture will be moved in this weekend. Regular appointments will be conducted in the physicians' offices Monday.

A central telephone system has been installed in the center. A switchboard operator will relay calls to the desired department.

The builder of the center is Health Care Industries, Inc., St. Louis, Mo., a subsidiary of Bank Building Corp.

At its inception, the center was called Twin City Medical Clinic of Southwestern Michigan. The name was later changed to Cedarwood.

Clampdown Due On Main Street Bridge Openings

By JIM DeLAND
Assistant City Editor

The Michigan Department of State Highways and Transportation is taking steps to limit the number of times the Main street bridge in Benton Harbor must be opened for boat traffic.

A study of boat and motor traffic using the bridge has been scheduled to start next June and a temporary limitation on bridge openings could be in effect as early as next July, according to Bruce Benson of the highway department's maintenance division.

Benson said the traffic study was approved after a request from Benton Harbor city manager Charles Morrison.

Long backups of automobile traffic are frequent during the warm summer months because of increased boat traffic using the bridge, which spans the St. Joseph river between Benton Harbor and St. Joseph.

Under federal law, boats have right-of-way over motor traffic and the slow-working bridge is opened each time a boat wants to pass through. But Benson said there are several locations in Michigan where a limitation has been placed on the number of bridge openings.

He said it is possible the bridge would be opened only once every half hour and not at all during peak hours of motor traffic.

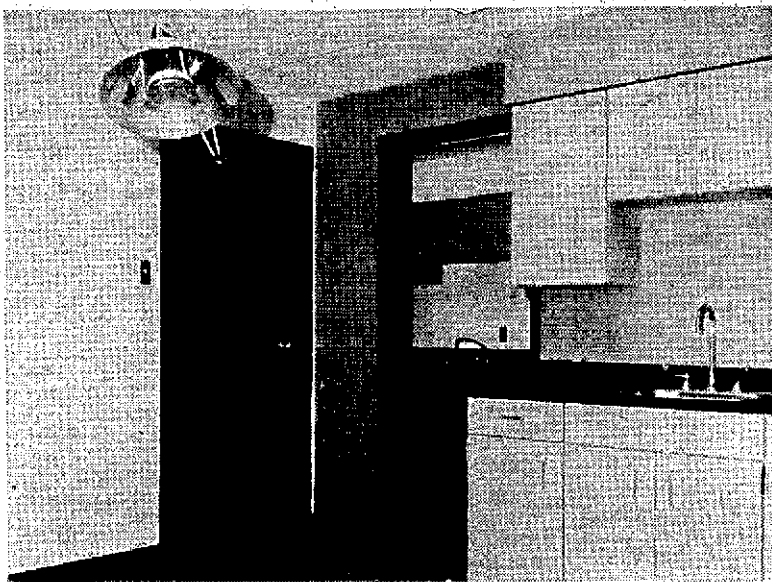

The state highway department's study is expected to last about two weeks next June and will include an hour-by-hour record of both boat and motor traffic. Results will be sent to the U.S. Coast Guard office in Cleveland.

Benson said a permanent ruling on the highway department's request to limit bridge openings might not be handed down until most of the summer is over, but that a temporary ruling could be in effect as early as July.

The problem of traffic backups eventually will be alleviated with completion of the new Main street bridge, which is scheduled to open in August, 1977.

The new bascule bridge — similar to the nearby Blossomland bridge in St. Joseph — will have a clearance of 21 feet, more than twice that of the present bridge, and will take considerably less time to open and close.

Benson said a permanent limitation on bridge openings would remain in effect even after the new bridge is opened.

OPERATING ROOM: Facilities for minor surgery are included in the Cedarwood Medical Center. Operating room is located on second floor. Medical center is designed to provide most services patients will need under one roof.

United Way Drive Nearing '75 Goal

The Blossomland United Way campaign has attained 93 per cent of its 1975 goal according to Robert Molhoek, general chairman.

Molhoek reported $678,900 has been pledged to date at a special lunch for campaign leaders Thursday in BUW headquarters at 305 Lake boulevard, St. Joseph. Molhoek said his team of volunteer fund-raisers hoped to meet their $730,000 goal by Nov. 5.

During the session, Molhoek was presented a photograph of Olympic star Jessie Owens. The picture, taken in 1896 in the Olympic Stadium in Berlin, included a message from Owens to Molhoek urging the campaign chairman to successfully reach his goal. Owens was campaign kickoff speaker here on Sept. 23.

Several successful employee campaigns were listed by leaders of the drive. In an unfinished canvass, employees of Sears-Roebuck and company increased their contributions by 17 per cent. Michigan Standard Alloys workers raised 11 per cent more than in 1974.

Employees at Certified Metal Finishing, Garey Roofing, and Metropolitan Life Insurance joined the growing list of contributors to United Way agency services, while the staff at Advertising Workshop boosted giving by 37.5 per cent. A 28.5 per cent increase was registered by Grocers Baking company, and Creative Advertising employees tripled their dollar pledging for a 200 per cent gain in United Way support.

Russian Art Exhibit At Detroit

American Tour

"Master Paintings from The Hermitage and State Russian Museum, Leningrad," an international exhibition, will be shown at Detroit Institute of Arts from Thursday, Nov. 6, through Tuesday, Dec. 9.

The exhibit, which is midway in a coast-to-coast tour of the United States, is composed of 30 old master paintings by such artists as Rembrandt, Rubens and Caravaggio.

During the five-week showing, the Detroit Institute of Arts will be open daily from 9:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. and on Fridays until 9 p.m.

Spanning five centuries of European creativity, the masterworks from Russia's famed Hermitage are generally from the Imperial Collection established by Catherine the Great in the 18th century and now part of the national treasures of the USSR.

Also featured in the exhibit will be 13 paintings by 18th and 19th century Russian masters.

The historic five-city loan was arranged for the United States by art patron Dr. Armand Hammer, American businessman in Russia and now president of Occidental Petroleum Corp. It is designated an official Bicentennial event.

Two paintings by Rembrandt, his wife Saskia as Flora and Old Testament scene, are among the 30 canvases from The Hermitage, which is the fourth largest museum in the world.

The oldest works in the show are by Cranach, dating to the early 16th century. Other artists represented include Veronese, Fetti, Guardi, Tiepolo, Poussin, Louis LeNain, Claude Lorrain, Boucher, Fragonard, Chardin, Velasquez, Murillo, Zurbaran, Van Dyck, Heda, Hals, Ter Borch, Ruisdael, Gainsborough, Cezanne, Gauguin, Matisse and Picasso.

Amateur and non-commercial cameramen may obtain permission to photograph the masterpieces while on display.

Dedicated To 'Equal Opportunity For Everyone'

RUTH RASMUSSEN

By WILLAR WEDDON
Special Correspondent
LANSING — Making the move from deputy director of programs, to director of the Michigan Civil Rights department was no great, bold step for Ruth Rasmussen.

She merely began shifting her belongings into the adjacent office of the 10th floor of the Stoddard building, across from the Capitol.

There is no work table there, however, and despite the carpeted quarters with an expansive view from a wall-sized window, Rasmussen prefers to do much of her work in her former office.

"I believe this department came of age when the announcement of my appointment (Sept. 12) by the Governor, appeared on the front page of the Legal News," she said. "It isn't due to the fact that I am a woman. All of a sudden we were recognized as a department that business has to recognize."

She remains as dedicated to achieving "equal opportunity for everyone, based solely on that person's ability," as she did when she joined the newly created department in January, 1964, and began her steady rise up the ladder of bureaucracy. Coming up through the ranks is an advantage, she feels, "because there is no gap in the thrust the department has been achieving in past years."

Rasmussen has been fending off charges, increasingly, by men irked at her insistence that the resources of women and minorities need to be utilized as well as theirs.

"I do not want to be misunderstood about the white male," she said. "It is just a realistic recognition that this country is dominated by the white male structure — the power people, the influential people, are predominately white men."

"I am charged with carrying out the law and the law says there will be no discrimination," she emphasized. "The courts have also held that if an employer selects, or promotes, for the purpose of implementing a bona fide affirmative action agreement, it is not unlawful."

"The law requires remedial actions to correct past discriminations," she said.

This does not mean, however, that every person who files a complaint with the Civil Rights department is automatically assured of winning his or her case.

"Of the total number of complaints docketed, 60 to 70 per cent are dismissed for lack of probable cause," the director said. In 1974-75, of 4,033 cases filed, 2,731 were dismissed.

Complaints are not publicized when they are filed because at that time none of the issues have been proven, she explained. There have been close to 30,000 individual complaints filed in 10 years and the number is currently down to 3,000.

If a complaint cannot be resolved and a finding is made that there is probable cause that illegal discrimination exists, a charge is issued and a hearing held. The Civil Rights department has the power to issue cease and desist orders, provide back pay and other appropriate remedies.

"Forty-eight per cent of our complaints are filed by women, 32 per cent of the total complaints are filed by white people and only 20 per cent of the total complaints are filed on the basis of sex," Rasmussen said. "About 40 per cent of the complaints are closed 'as adjusted' when the employer makes changes."

Although the department does wield considerable legal authority, she is not about to see it used unfairly.

"I am totally aware that the needs of business and industry have a dynamic effect on our economy," she said, and indicated that the chief culprit hurting businessmen today is workmen's compensation.

"Employers are paying for some very liberal decisions coming out of the courts," she said. "I think one of the reasons there is a constant rumbling about a 51st 'Superior' state, is the high workmen's compensation."

The daughter of a Probate judge and a native of Stanton, Rasmussen earned her master of arts degree from Michigan State University with a major in economics and worked with volunteer agencies before entering the field of civil rights.

"I was raised on the Judaic-Christian principle that all persons were created equal and entitled to their place in the sun, dependent only on their ability to get there," she explained her philosophy. "But I soon learned that in religion, as elsewhere, there is a great deviation between principles and practices."

"I do not believe religion has failed, it has never been tried," she continued. "Therefore, the alternative to securing equal opportunity for all persons is through vigorous enforcement of anti-discrimination laws."

A firm believer in family life, she would like to promote flexible working schedules for parents to benefit their children.

"There is nothing sacred about working hours from eight to five," she said. "This is a long range development that needs to be researched."

Despite long hours at her desk, Rasmussen attends an evening class at Thomas L. Cooley Law school in Lansing, where she is a second year student. She hopes to use this training in Probate court when she retires from her present position. "There isn't much of a demand for retired civil rights workers," she remarked with dry humor.

If taught correctly, belly dancing has proven itself to be an excellent type of exercise, relieving tension and promoting agility. For the skeptic, a first experience with this lovely art proves to be an enlightening encounter with the hypnotic movement and varied rhythms of the Middle East."

'Your Problems' By Ann Landers

How To Be A Good Guest

Dear Ann Landers: Can you give some general guidelines for being a good house-guest? So many people abuse the privilege.

A few words from you would mean a lot to thousands of harassed hosts and hostesses. Thanks a lot, Ann. — Pooped In Peoria Dear P.: Rule Number One: Don't assume you are welcome unless you've been invited — no matter how close you feel to the host and hostess — relatives included.

Two: If you are invited for a week, stay five days. If you are invited for two weeks, stay ten days. In other words, shorten your visit so they'll wish you had stayed longer rather than rejoice at the sight of your leaving.

Three: Pitch in and help with the housework and cooking if your help is needed and wanted. If not, stay out of the way. Don't take over. (Of course, you always leave the bathroom clean. This means tub or shower stall, wash basin, etc.)

Four: If you are eating at home mostly, buy some choice steaks and fancy fruit as a surprise. And treat the host and hostess to at least one meal in a restaurant.

Five: Spend some time elsewhere, even if it means going to a movie or taking a five-mile hike. Every host and hostess needs a few hours or an evening of "freedom" to relax by themselves.

Six: Either bring a gift when you arrive or send one when you get home. It needn't be lavish, but it should say "thank you for the hospitality."

about it, it scared the living daylights out of me. That's when I decided to quit dope for good.

I only wish for one thing now — that my brother would get off speed. I pray he will wise up and return to the world I found is still beautiful. I could kick myself for wasting two of my sixteen years to discover how lousy and phony the drug scene really is. I will always be grateful to you for placing that column where I could read it. It's a great world and I'm glad I'm a part of it once again. Just sign me — Thank God I Read Ann Landers!

Dear Friend: A letter like yours makes my day. Thank you for letting me know.

ANN LANDERS

people don't remember what he looked like?

I (and several others) were shocked to see this sight. Of course it made him look older, not younger because now all his wrinkles stand out. Why? Why? Why? — Baffled In Birmingham

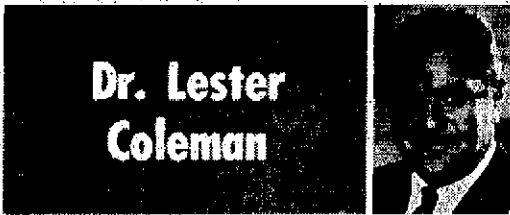

Dear B. In B.: Maybe the poor fellow never read Robert Burns: "O wad some Pow'r the giftie gie us/To see ourselves as others see us!"

Don't get burned by a "line" that's too hot to handle. Play it cool with Ann Landers's guide to "Necking and Petting — What Are the Limits?" Send your request to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 1400, Elgin, Ill. 60120, enclosing 50 cents in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Dyed Hair

Dear Ann Landers: Maybe this will sound like chicken feed compared to the serious problems that cross your desk daily but it's been bugging me a lot lately and I'd like your opinion.

Why would a bright, successful professional man who is well respected in the community show up with obviously dyed brown hair when for the last 20 years his hair has been a beautiful steel-gray? Does he think

Dr. Lester Coleman

Our doctor pricks the ear lobe to take blood from the children and us. Other doctors in the community prick the finger. We are curious as to why he chooses the ear.

Mrs. H.L., Del.

I am certain that if you asked your doctor this simple question he would have told you that children, and some adults, are bothered less by taking a few drops of blood from the ear lobe than from the finger.

Anyone who types or uses the tips of their fingers will vouch for the fact that the pinpoint puncture can be annoying for 24 to 48 hours.

For routine studies, there is no difference in the nature of the blood.

My husband is 52 and seems to be in perfect health. Every Sunday he plays paddle tennis for three hours. When he comes home he is in a state of exhaustion for the rest of the day. Do you agree that this kind of punishment is not good for his health?

Mrs. J.J., Tex.

I do agree. Now, you must make your husband agree with both of us.

It is acknowledged that some exercise, at any age, is beneficial to health. It is also acknowledged that exercise to the point of exhaustion or extreme fatigue is no longer beneficial and is, indeed, a threat to health.

Far too many people at your husband's age play exhausting games, including four-wall handball, competing with the memory of their capacity when they were 20.

Even at 20, such stressful games demand that the player be in constant excellent physical shape in order to withstand the stress imposed on the heart and lungs.

Sensible games, with periods of rest in between, can convert a possible hazard into an exhilarating experience.

A week of inactivity, followed by an attempt to cram into a few hours concentrated, vigorous exercise, is foolhardy and potentially dangerous.

SPEAKING OF YOUR HEALTH. Any diet that avoids a sensible breakfast is basically unsound.

Quits Drugs

Dear Ann Landers: Well, here I am feeling great and very much alive.

I read a while back in your column about a guy who quit dope. He said he had flashbacks, feelings of being stoned, unexpectedly even though he'd been off the junk for three months. Well, I laughed till I was sick and ached all over. The next day when I thought bridge and he was interested in being as sure of his contract as possible.

Why would a bright, successful professional man who is well respected in the community show up with obviously dyed brown hair when for the last 20 years his hair has been a beautiful steel-gray? Does he think

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

By Oswald & James Jacoby
Fourth-suit forcing is a modern invention. We hope it will never replace horse and buggy bidding.

North's two-diamond call is an example. He didn't know what to bid so he tried two diamonds to see what might happen.

This caused South to bid two and three notrump and North had to decide what to do. Finally, he passed in the hope that South could handle the diamond suit by himself. It turned out that South could.

East won the first trick with the ace of diamonds and returned the suit. South won and led the queen of spades covered by West's king and dummy's ace. At this point South decided to take an unusual safety play. He led a low heart from dummy and played the eight spot from his own hand.

This safety play cost him an overtrick, but South did not care. The game was rubber

Underground Movement

Sometimes I think there is an underground movement at work in this country to destroy the institution of marriage.

First, it was the joint checking account that was a declaration of war for millions of couples. Then, the dual control electric blanket which was responsible for dissolving another million or so marriages. This was followed by the unleashing of Tom Jones whose swiveling hips tore couples apart who previously thought they were happy watching Donnie Osmond.

Now it seems marriage is to be dealt another challenge... the electric mattress.

The electric mattress reportedly will provide separate heat controls for three different sections of the body — the head, middle and legs, and will make it possible to sleep in comfort with only a sheet over your body on the coldest winter nights.

My husband was ecstatic over the idea. "Boy, does that sound terrific," he said. "Imagine. Controlled heat without all those heavy blankets and quilts to wrestle. When was the last time you slept with only a sheet over you?"

"Last night. As usual, you hogged all the covers."

"I hogged what?" he said evenly. "I don't believe this. I got up to get a drink of water and when I came back you looked like a tent that had just been staked to the ground. I spent the entire night perched on the bedrail!"

"Don't complain. If I hadn't had a nip of anti-freeze before bedtime, my pipes would have frozen."

"Well, I happen to think an electric mattress might be the answer to our sleeping problems," he insisted.

"You might be right," I said, "but who would have custody of the controls?"

"I consider myself a reasonable human being who can assess what temperature is proper to maintain comfort without excess."

"Don't give me that," I said. "You are the cheapo who taped up the electrical outlets because you said we were losing heat."

"Be fair!" he snapped. "Do you know how many women have the coldest feet in the world?"

"No," I said, "but if you volunteer an answer, you're going to lose your spot on the bedrail."

Coloma Voters To Pick Clerk, Three Commissioners

COLOMA — Coloma voters on Nov. 4 will decide a three-way race for city clerk, a five-candidate race for three city commission seats and will vote for the third time on a non-exclusive franchise proposal for cable television.

Incumbents running unopposed for re-election include Mayor Glenn A. Randall, Treasurer Gladys VanDerveer, and Constable Warren R. Beezley.

Candidates for three, four-year city commission seats include two incumbents, Wavia Noack and William Weybright, and three challengers, Thomas L. Pratt, Eugene E. Baker and former commissioner Norman D. Carrothers.

Incumbent City Clerk Patricia H. Beezley is challenged for re-election by two candidates, Barbara June Wier and Martha Wheeler.

Terms for the mayor and commissioners are four years and for the clerk, treasurer and constable are two years.

Randall, 68, has been mayor for the past seven years. He is a spray consultant at the Watervliet office of the Haviland Chemical company, Grand Rapids, and he and his wife, Elsie, live at 380 Gillson street. They have two children. He began his political career in Coloma in 1933.

Mrs. Noack, 65, 168 St. Joseph street, seeks her first four-year term on the commission after winning a two-year term in November, 1973. She was appointed to the commission in July, 1973. Mrs. Noack's husband, Cecil, is the city health officer. They have two children. Weybright, 46, 326 Timber drive, seeks his first four-year term on the commission after being appointed last January. He is a cost and budget analyst in the accounting department of Auto Specialties Manufacturing company, St. Joseph, and he and his wife, Jean, have four children.

Pratt, 26, is manager of Community Finance company, Benton Heights, and he and his wife, Diane, and one daughter live at 144 West St. Joseph street.

Baker, 55, a tax consultant for Dunke and Associates, St. Joseph, resides at 175 Harriet with his wife, Betty. They have two children.

Carrothers, 71, 255 South Paw Paw street, is a retired building contractor and is seeking a commission seat after serving on the commission from 1963 to 1973. He and his wife, Barbara, have six children.

Mrs. Beezley, 47, was first elected city clerk in 1969 and is seeking her fourth term. She and her husband, Warren, reside at 147 North West street and they have eight children.

Mrs. Wier, 20, is employed as a secretary at Household Finance corporation, Benton Harbor, and she and her husband, Jan, live at 340 South Church street. A 1973 graduate of Coloma high school, she seeks election to public office for the first time.

Mrs. Wheeler, 30, 440 West Center street, a divorcee, is a substitute school teacher.

City voters will also ballot on a proposal to grant a non-exclusive, 15-year franchise to the Paw Paw Lake Area Cable TV company. The proposal must be approved by a three-fifths majority, according to the city charter. The same proposal was twice defeated by city voters in 1974.

Voting will take place from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. at the Coloma city hall.

Mouse-tronaut Has Successful Flight

BLOOMINGDALE — About 120 students at Bloomingdale elementary school were treated to an interesting experiment last week involving a solid-propellant fueled rocket, a parachute, a mouse, and a little bit of luck — at least on the part of the mouse.

The school's mouse-tronaut survived a suborbital flight in a rocket prepared by students in fifth grade teacher Joseph Long's class, according to Michael Helms, school librarian.

The mouse's big day, Friday, Oct. 24, dawned clear but windy, and because of the wind, the three-engine rocket had to be properly rigged. One of the two parachutes connected to the payload section was removed, and a revised trajectory, pointing the rocket into the wind, was calculated.

The mouse, whom students had named "Alexander, the Six Million Dollar Mouse," was loaded into the transparent capsule, and the rocket was placed on the launching pad. After a short countdown, the cluster of three engines lifted the nervous payload off the ground all the way to an estimated height of about 800 feet.

Then the parachute ejected and students cheered as the capsule gently floated back to earth. Several students, as spotters, ran to the expected touchdown area, and several teachers were also seen bounding across the fields.

When the capsule was opened, a bewildered, but healthy mouse emerged, and he was then set free in the field where he landed as a reward.

Sixteen Vying For Seats In Watervliet Government

WATERVLIET — Watervliet voters will elect a new mayor from two candidates seeking the office and select three city commission members from a field of five candidates in the city's Nov. 4 election.

Seeking the four-year mayor's term are present commissioner Thomas Murphy and Arvid Frazier, a former commission member.

Mayor Robert Flaherty is seeking one of the three city commission offices available in the election. The other commission candidates are incumbent Paul Muth and Mrs. Sandra Jean Pritchett, Ed Campbell and Charles Burress.

The top three vote getters will be the winners.

Also appearing on the ballot in a contested race will be four candidates for two available constable offices. They are Walter Duddy, Harvey Harper, Robert Richardson and Robert Gillard.

Unopposed office seekers will be Clerk Fred G. Johnson, Treasurer William B. Rogers and Assessor Thomas Yore, all incumbents, and Milford Lynch and William Fizzell for the city board of review.

Fizzell, now a commission member, declined to seek re-election to the commission because of the press of other responsibilities, creating one of the three commission openings.

In the mayor's race Murphy, 43, is completing his first four-year term on the commission. An area salesman for the Advance Package company, Grand Rapids, Murphy and his wife, Mary Ann, have three children. They live at 557 Park. Mrs. Murphy is deputy city clerk.

Frazier, 42, is an electrical engineer for Indiana & Michigan Electric company and served on the commission from 1970 to 1973 when he was defeated in a bid for re-election. He and his wife, Henrietta, have four children and live at 923 North Main.

In the commission contest Muth, 50, is the sole commission incumbent. He is seeking his second four-year term on the city's controlling body. He and his wife, Gladys, live at 77 Summit drive.

Flaherty, 55, in his 15th year as mayor, decided to seek a commission post this election to have a voting voice in the affairs of the city. As mayor, he would vote only in cases of ties in a commission ballot. The parts manager at the Don Woodham auto dealership in South Haven, Flaherty and his wife, Margaret, live at 616 Lewiston and have six children. Flaherty, before becoming mayor, was city treasurer from 1957 to 1959.

The only woman candidate for the commission, Mrs. Pritchett, 25, is assistant librarian at the Watervliet public library. She is making her first bid for elective office. She and her husband, Jerry, who works at New Products company, Benton Harbor, live at 124 Sutherland.

Campbell, 40, owns and operates Ed's Barber shop at 377 North Main street. He is also making his first bid for elective office. He and his wife, Judy, have three children and live at 733 Forest Park road.

Burress, 34, is produce manager at Family Foods store in Benton Harbor and is making his second try for public office. In 1969, he lost a bid for the city assessor's post. He and his wife, Margaret, have four children.

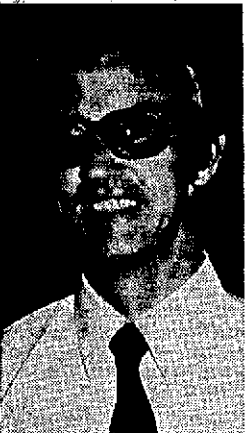

Among the constable candidates, Harper of 435 Harper avenue is an incumbent. The top two vote getters will be the winners. Duddy lives at 349 Bluff View while Richardson resides at 238 East Parsons and Gillard at 321 Harper.

Of the unopposed candidates,

Johnson, 64, of 325 Bluff View has been city clerk since May, 1966, when he was appointed to fill a vacancy. He was elected to his first term in 1967.

Yore, 118 East Division street, has been city assessor since April, 1962. Rogers, 60, of 207 East Parsons avenue has been treasurer since 1971 when he was appointed. He won election to his first full term in 1973.

Benton Harbor Fire Chief Harold Gaddie reported that runs to put out 14 leaf fires during October, most of which were deliberately set, cost the city about $28,000.

Gaddie said the estimate was based on average costs for men and equipment responding to alarms. He said that the bulk of the leaf fires appeared to be the work of "mischievous youngsters."

He indicated that residents could save the fire department and themselves problems by wetting down leaves raked into piles. He noted that wetting leaves would deter fire-setting and would also keep leaves from blowing.

He reminded residents that it is a violation of city ordinance to burn leaves. Gaddie said people should rake leaves alongside curbs where city street crews can pick them up.

Ford Motor Co. Profit Up 19%

DETROIT (AP) — Ford Motor Co. upset Wall Street predictions of an earnings decline by posting a 19 per cent third-quarter profit gain over last year's poor levels.

The nation's No. 2 auto maker reported Thursday it earned $56.3 million, or 60 cents a share, in the July-September period, up from $47.4, or 51 cents a share, a year ago. Sales rose only 2 per cent to $8.1 billion.

The improvement reversed seven straight quarters in which earnings fell below the levels of the previous year.

Analysts had predicted Ford earnings would slide 15 to 40 per cent from last year, which was the firm's weakest performance for a nonstrike third quarter in 16 years.

Ford's operating income before taxes in the third period did decline — by 8 per cent from a year ago. Sharply reduced income tax payments accounted for the rise in net earnings.

"It's still a surprise," commented an analyst in Detroit. "Ford came in twice as strong as I expected. The results indicate a smooth start for the 1976-model year and sales gains overseas."

Other analysts noted that Ford's earnings still were mediocre compared with the firm's performance in previous years, but the upward trend was an encouraging sign.

Ford was the second auto company to post profits substantially higher than analysts had predicted, an indication the industry is rebounding from its two-year earnings slump faster than expected.

Auto giant General Motors Corp. reported Tuesday its earnings for the third quarter jumped 15 times from last year's anemic levels to $243 million — $100 million more than some analysts had predicted.

However, a still-beleaguered Chrysler Corp. reported a $79 million loss for the period, its fifth consecutive quarter of red ink.

American Motors Corp. releases its quarterly financial report next month.

In other industry developments Thursday Ford said it will shut three car assembly operations for a week, beginning Monday, idling nearly 7,200 hourly workers. The company said it is halting intermediate-car production at

Governor Wants Protest In NYC

By JAMES GERSTENZANG
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — As Congress moves ahead with legislation to aid New York City, the governor of New York State is calling for street demonstrations supporting the city's plea for federal help.

A House banking subcommittee tries to complete work today on a bill to grant federal loan guarantees to New York City. The panel's chairman, Thomas L. Ashley, D-Ohio, predicted approval with two votes to spare.

The Senate Banking Committee approved a bill on Thursday that includes $4 billion in loan guarantees for the city. The measure is expected to be up for a full Senate vote next week.

One of the two loan guarantee plans studied by the House panel would offer up to $7 billion in loan guarantees to help a city or state continue essential public services or to prevent or ease the effects of default. The other would offer loan guarantees of up to $6 billion.

Either would be applicable before or after default occurred, and would be contingent on the city balancing its budget. Each bill would provide for administration of the guarantees by a federal board.

A Senate judiciary subcommittee today planned to hear administration spokesmen discuss President Ford's proposal to revise bankruptcy laws to help New York maintain essential services after a default. A House judiciary panel, at work on general revisions in the bankruptcy laws, also planned to focus on their application to New York's problem.

But consideration of measures to aid the city remained in the shadow of a threatened presidential veto of any bill designed to prevent New York City's financial default, and Ford said he didn't believe there were enough pro-New York votes to get an aid bill passed.

Meanwhile, there were these related developments Thursday:

— New York's Gov. Hugh L. Carey urged New Yorkers to take to the streets, to fill Times Square in an antiadministration rally reminiscent of post-Pearl Harbor demonstrations.

— Ford, on a campaign trip to raise money for his party, followed up on his veto promise by telling Republicans that the

GM Chief Blasts Ford Road Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chairman of General Motors sharply criticized on Thursday Ford administration attempts to change highway funding. He said any under-investment in highways could create a situation worse than the Northeast rail crisis.

"What has happened to the railroads in this country, particularly in the Northeast, as terrible as it has been, is nothing compared to what could happen if the administration's proposal to effectively reduce highway funding by 50 per cent or more is carried out," said Thomas A. Murphy.

Murphy made his comments during a speech before the annual meeting of the Highway Users Federation.

The GM chairman noted that Federal Highway Administrator Norbert Tiemann has stated that the nation's roads at today's level of appropriations are deteriorating 50 per cent faster than they are rebuilt.

"At a time when state and local resources for highways are strained and uncertain due to conflicting social, environmental and urban needs, the federal government's role in this program must be strengthened, not weakened," Murphy said.

The Ford administration has proposed restructuring the present method of financing highways but claims this new method will not necessarily result in lessened highway expenditures.

The administration has asked Congress to dedicate the highway trust fund, which now is used to finance all roads, exclusively to the construction and maintenance of the interstate highway system. It has recommended that all other highways be financed through general revenues.

To accomplish this, the administration proposed that one cent of the current four-cent-per-gallon federal gasoline tax go into the trust fund, two cents be diverted into general revenues and the last cent be diverted to states for funding any project — including non-transportation projects — that the state wishes.

Murphy said a progressive society depends on an efficient transportation system "and yet the American people are being urged to think that the improvement and maintenance of such a system is not in their interest."

He said diversion of highway gasoline taxes into a general fund would probably result in that money being lost to transportation forever.

Impasse Looms In PSC Probe

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The state Public Service Commission which sets utility rates and a legislative panel investigating its practices face their first serious impasse since the probe started six months ago.

Rep. Howard Wolpe, D-Kalamazoo, who heads the special House investigatory committee, said Thursday he may ask his committee next week to issue subpoenas to 10 PSC administrative law judges who refused to submit answers to 111 questions by Thursday's deadline.

The PSC's administrative law judges listen to testimony from both utility companies and persons who oppose rate increases, often including representatives from Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley's office.

The judges are influential in determining the PSC staff's recommendations to the three commissioners.

The recommendations are the basis on which rate increases are awarded by the three commissioners.

It was PSC chairman Daniel Demlow who told Wolpe by letter Monday he advised the judges not to answer the 111 questions.

Pentagon Says Plane On Secret Flight

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Navy patrol plane which vanished more than 25 years ago was on a top secret intelligence mission off Soviet Baltic territory, the Pentagon has disclosed.

In Grand Rapids, Mich., a private investigator who rekindled recent interest in the mystery said today he is not surprised by the Pentagon revelation.

"It's what I've said all along," said Theodore Grevers when told of the Pentagon's disclosure. Grevers and John Noble, once a prisoner in a Russian labor camp, said last week they believe at least eight of 10 Navy crewmen aboard the plane may still be alive.

U.S. officials say they have no reason to believe reports that the crewmen were prisoners in Soviet camps.

After the plane and its crew disappeared on April 8, 1950, the U.S. government gave the impression they were on a training flight from Germany to Denmark.

But a Navy investigating board's report shows the four-engine Privateer was engaged in what was called a "special electronic search project mission" approved by the highest-ranking U.S. admiral in the Eastern Atlantic.

The report, which was recently declassified after being kept secret since 1950, lends no support to recent reports that some of the Navy crewmen may have survived and still be alive inside Russia.

Navy officials said there has been "no credible evidence" from that day to this that any of the crew escaped the plane and ended up in Soviet prison camps.

HUD Orders Benton To Repair Homes

BY SCOTT WILLIAMSON
Staff Writer

The federal Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) has ordered Benton township to correct shoddy workmanship in 26 township homes remodeled with federal funds two years ago.

A series of letters released today by the Berrien county prosecutor's office also indicate the township will be responsible for the cost of bringing the houses up to code.

Benton Supervisor Martin J. Lane, contacted by the Herald-Palladium, estimated the cost to remodel the previously remodeled houses might be about $25,000. He also said the money would apparently have to come from the township's general fund.

The development came from correspondence between Lane, HUD Secretary Carla A. Hills, Congressman Edward Hutchinson, and Berrien Prosecutor John A. Smetanka.

The shoddy workmanship in the remodeled homes, done with $7,500 in federal funds under the township's Neighborhood Development Program (NDP), came to light after an investigation by the prosecutor's Consumer Protection Unit.

Hutchinson in August toured two of the remodeled homes at the request of the CPU and vowed to have HUD look into the situation and report to him.

Following HUD's investigation, Hutchinson, in a letter dated Oct. 21 to Smetanka, said in part: "It appears . . . that HUD has successfully placed the responsibility for corrective action on Benton township and that the township has assumed that responsibility."

The remodeling of sub-standard township homes was part of an NDP project aimed at rejuvenating homes and neighborhoods of low-income families, and was conducted during 1973. A subsequent Consumer Protection Unit investigation revealed workmanship which was poorly done and allegedly over-priced.

One of the contractors for many of the houses was Maurice Bishop, of Benton Harbor, who operated as All-Time Construction Co. Bishop in July was sentenced to $50 fine and costs in Berrien Fifth District court after pleading no contest to a charge of remodeling one of the homes without a state license.

Lane indicated the township board of trustees will discuss the matter of the new remodeling and where the money will come from at Tuesday's board meeting. Asked if the township can use general fund monies to remodel NDP homes, Lane replied: "I guess so."

Judd Spray, NDP director for the township, said all 26 of the houses have been inspected by township building inspectors to ascertain what work needs to be done. He added the houses will be repaired "as soon as possible, hopefully before the end of November."

Spray also noted the new remodeling "will be done by licensed contractors."

Secretary Hills, in a letter to Hutchinson, noted: "The township (Benton) has been requested by the area office (of HUD) to see to it that the appropriate corrections are made, either through use of its own funds or through recall of the original contractors."

Smetanka said that the only alternatives to using the township's general fund monies for the remodeling would be to sue the contractors to get back the money the township already paid or to have the contractors re-do the work. Unless Bishop, one of the contractors, obtains a state license, he would be ineligible.

Included in the series of letters Smetanka released was one to Lane from Blanche Gavin, acting program manager for HUD's Detroit area office. Portions of the letter state:

"Generally speaking, the condition of the rehabilitated homes (was) found to be extremely unsatisfactory. Further, poor management, the lack of qualified staff persons to perform rehabilitation functions in a responsible manner, and lack of coordination and involvement between the township governing body and the NDP staff appear to be the reasons for the program's failure."

The letter also cited some of the deficiencies to which HUD objected, including: only two contractors received contracts for the work; final payment was made before the remodeling work was certified as complete; no evidence of homeowners agreeing to changes, alterations, or omissions; grants were made in some cases where the homes should have been razed; much of the construction was poor and unacceptable; and after completion of the rehabilitation, many of the homes still failed to meet minimum code standards.

'Belt-Tightening' Budget Adopted By Cass County

CASSOPOLIS — Cass county board of commissioners last night adopted a 1976 budget of $2,056,338, about a five per cent increase over this year's $1,961,117 budget. Working within an anti-inflationary millage cut approved earlier in the year, Commissioner Charles Sarabyn of Dowagiac said there is going to have to be some "belt-tightening" by county departments.

Sarabyn, the county board's finance committee chairman, said expenditures for new equipment and office furniture have been deleted from the 1976 budget.

He said the county has appropriated $50,000 for salary increases for county elected officials and employees, but salaries will not be determined until after negotiations with the various unions which represent county workers.

In March of this year, the county board decreed sky rocketing property values that produce higher tax bills for property owners.

The board pledged to freeze at the 1974 level the amount of taxes it would collect to finance county operations in 1976.

In September, the board reduced its operating millage levy from 5.75 mills to five mills.

The tax levy is expected to produce about $1,238,938 in county property tax revenues in the coming year, compared to about $1,221,207 the 5.37 mill levy produced for this year's county operations.

The county was able to make the millage cut because of a 17 per cent increase in the county's tax base, from $212,485,492 in 1974 to $247,737,617 this year.

Sarabyn said the 1976 budget was cut "where ever it was possible to cut it."

According to the budget adopted last night, here is a list of county appropriations to major county departments with last year's appropriations in parenthesis:

County clerk, $53,755 ($48,700); treasurer, $42,425 ($46,475); prosecutor, $61,425 ($48,825); register of deeds, $34,955 ($33,875); district court, $70,650 ($67,325); circuit court, $44,000 ($38,240); probate court, $48,375 ($45,610); juvenile division of probate court, $44,650 ($30,350); health department, $90,000 ($75,000); and county library, $7,000 ($17,000).

In the sheriff's department, there was a cut in the general operating budget from $379,059 to $388,906; in the marine enforcement fund, a cut, $35,452 ($37,910); a boost in the snowmobile account, $11,726 ($6,821); and an increase in the jail and turnkey account, $48,150 ($43,700 last year).

The board also created two new accounts, the telephone switchboard, $20,000, and a motor pool account for the sheriff's department, $10,000.

The board's finance chairman said the budget amendment to allow for salaries will probably come in December.

Man Pleads No Contest

PAW PAW — Kirby L. Munn, 20, rural Bloomington, pleaded no contest to a charge of attempting to flee and elude police when arraigned yesterday in Van Buren Seventh district court.

Munn allegedly tried to flee from troopers as they attempted to stop his motorcycle on CR-364 on Oct. 21, according to state police at Paw Paw.

Munn also pleaded guilty to a charge of failing to register the motorcycle, and was fined $54 by Judge William C. Buhl.

Sentencing on the fleeing charge was set for Nov. 24.

New Buffalo Boy Testifies He Lied

with the incident. The statement was not allowed in evidence because the boy rebutted its contents yesterday.

In the statement he said that he and others threatened to harm Mrs. Welderich and her property unless she gave them money. And he told police that he knew the Rheinholz couple and another parent "sent their kids to Mrs. Welderich's house."

Yesterday the Altman boy, an eighth-grader, admitted making the statements to New Buffalo Patrolman Ed Lyons.

But right then I was scared and I didn't know what I was saying," he testified. "I never did hear Jack and Harriet (Rheinholz) tell kids to go to Mrs. Welderich's to get money," he testified.

He alleged that Lyons "presured" him and promised to put in a good word with the juvenile judge "if I told the answer that he wanted."

Mrs. Welderich testified for nearly an hour. She spoke with a strong foreign accent and her sentences were a mixture of English and another language, apparently German or Hungarian.

She testified that until October, when police broke up the alleged extortion gang, several boys came to her house every day.

She said she "gave most of them money every day." She called the youths "nice boys."

But said that she was pleased that "He (Patrolman Lyons) stopped them" from their visits.

It's alright now," she said. Later in the hearing Lyons told how he and other police raided the woman's house on Oct. 15 and waited for some boys, who police had been told were bothering the woman, to appear.

On the morning of Oct. 15 two boys entered Mrs. Welderich's home and were arrested on extortion charges. One of the boys was a son of the defendants and Lyons testified, the defendants themselves were seen standing across the street from the house.

Asst. Prosecutor Robert U. McDowell asked Mrs. Welderich if the boys ever threatened her when they asked for money. "Ya," she said.

Atty. Richard Globensky, appointed by the court to defend the Rheinholzes, asked Mrs. Welderich if "the boys threaten you?" "Oh, it not so bad, they nice boys, nice boys," she answered.

And when the boys threatened to burn her house if she did not give them money, she testified "I thought they was just kidding and I was not afraid."

There were apparently several reasons why she gave the boys money, according to her testimony. She said they did small jobs around her home. She said she gave them some money because they needed clothes, and on one occasion a boy said his eye was sore and she gave him money so he could go to a doctor.

The boys told her "If you give money to poor people you don't have to pay income tax," she said. Another time the boys told her "I am rich and must give away money." She added "I like to give poor people money, but not so much."

Not mentioned at the hearing, but reported earlier, is that over the past year she handed more than $1,000 to the boys, police said.

She also said earlier that she did not call police about the boys because she had a fear of men in uniform dating back to her childhood in Hungary during World War I.

Lyons testified yesterday that during the investigation, Mrs. Welderich told him that the boys, angry because she wouldn't give them money, took a hot spoon she was using to can applesauce and burned her hand.

At yesterday's preliminary hearing she said the story was true and, rubbing her right hand, said "He burnt my hand here." But at another point, she testified that she was alone in the house and she didn't know if the boys burned her hand.

Her strongest testimony, perhaps, was that five boys once trampled her flowers when she refused to give them more than a dime each.

An important prosecution witness was to be Michael Altman. He was given immunity from prosecution and took the stand to testify about a statement he gave police in the presence of his parents, David and Bonnie Altman.

Four times, he testified, he went to the Welderich house to do odd jobs. "She said 'I don't have no jobs for you' and at least gave me a dollar."

Lyons testified that Terry Rheinholz, one of the juveniles arrested at the Welderich house, said his mother and father "sent him" to the house to get money.

Upon seeing his parents outside the house on the day of the arrest, Terry told Lyons "My mother is waiting for me," Lyons testified yesterday.

Before the hearing Jack and Harriet Rheinholz, 24 and 31, of 518 1/2 West Buffalo street, New Buffalo, demanded examinations on a second charge, conspiracy to commit extortion.

Yesterday's hearing dealt with both counts.

Lyons said yesterday that all 10 boys have been petitioned into juvenile court in connection with the alleged incidents.

Juveniles Arrested When Car Flips Over

WATERVLIET — Two 15-year-old juveniles, a boy and a girl, were in police custody here this morning as the result of a high-speed chase which ended when the car the two were in flipped over near Covert.

Waterliet police said the two were not hurt. They identified the boy as the driver of the car and as an escapee from a boys training school near Brighton, Mich.

The girl, police said, was a runaway from her home in Kalamazoo.

According to police the car had been reported stolen from Mattawan about 3 a.m.

Police said the chase began about 4:30 a.m. when officer

John Latch spotted a car answering the description of a vehicle sought in connection with a failure to pay at a gas station a short time before.

According to Latch, the chase ended on M-140 at Covert where the car went out of control and flipped over.

Police said they began looking for a car after an attendant at the service station on M-140 had reported that a driver had left without paying for $14 worth of gas.

Police said the two were being held pending a decision by juvenile authorities in probate court on what should be done with them.

Today In MICHIGAN

Welfare Coalition Worried

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The Michigan Welfare Reform Coalition has joined the growing ranks of groups nervous about the effects of Gov. William Milliken's proposed state budget cutbacks. Milliken's proposal includes cutting between $30 million and $60 million from the state Department of Social Services, with the average welfare family standing to lose $10 to $15 a month, department officials say. The Senate and House appropriations committees have indicated they will reject Milliken's initial recommendations and ask him to go back to the drawing board. In a letter to the appropriations committees, Coalition Chairman Tom Bergeson said the Aid to Dependent Children (ADC) payment level now "is barely sufficient for the poor in Michigan." A cutback at this time, especially during the harsh winter months, will inflict a very personal economic disaster on each welfare recipient," Bergeson said. No welfare cutbacks should be approved without a full review of alternatives to fill the needs of people "who are literally at the mercy of the state for food, clothing and shelter," Bergeson said.

'Minimal Disruptions'

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Michigan is expected to suffer "only minimal disruptions" in its supply of natural gas, the head of the Department of Commerce said Thursday. Despite national predictions of a 18 per cent natural gas shortage, said Richard Holmbeck, the state won't be hurt. But, Holmbeck warned in a speech, the Federal Power Commission has proposed rules which, if adopted, could divert natural gas from states with enough gas to gas-poor states without involving the affected states in the decision-making process. "This would result in diverting gas from Michigan, which is already experiencing double-digit unemployment, to another state which has less unemployment and is much more able to ride out a fuel shortage," Holmbeck said.

Weinberger's Warning

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Burgeoning social programs could plunge the federal government into the same "dismal abyss" of fiscal instability New York City is now suffering, says the former Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW). Caspar Weinberger said Thursday estimates are that half of the nation's Gross National Product (GNP) will be spent on domestic health, education and welfare by the year 2000. Most of those programs would be at least partially federally-funded. "There's nobody who can bail out the federal government," said Weinberger, who headed HEW from 1973 to 1975. Weinberger said currently 37 per cent of the national GNP, a multitrillion-dollar measure of the value of goods and services produced, is spent for domestic social programs. Weinberger spoke with reporters before delivering an address at a Michigan State University medical school.

Hartford Drive At Midpoint

HARTFORD — Hartford's Combined Appeal drive is at the halfway mark of its $6,500 goal, according to Mrs. George Malaski, drive chairman. The three-week drive began Oct. 13. Mrs. Malaski said people who have not been contacted by solicitors can leave donations at the Van Buren State bank.

Paw Paw Tenure Hearing Set

PAW PAW — A special meeting of the Paw Paw school board has been called for 7:30 p.m. Monday to conduct a hearing for a teacher denied tenure by the board. Supt. Norval Bovee said the hearing was requested by Mrs. Ruth Barrett, a middle school librarian and third year probationary teacher. Bovee said the board voted 4-3 during an executive session of its last meeting not to grant her tenure. The superintendent indicated the hearing would probably be closed at Mrs. Barrett's request.

Fair Teeters On Brink

DETROIT (AP) — The Michigan State Fair, teetering like New York City on the brink of fiscal disaster, says it needs direct state aid to stay in business. "The fair has been living hand-to-mouth for years," said Charles Cecil, a state Agriculture Department official. He said eight days of rain this past year cost the fair $500,000 and has made the situation "catastrophic." "This is a very poor time in the state's economy to be asking for money, but the only alternative is to close down the grounds and the whole operation," Cecil said.

'Unholy Five' Winners

SOUTHFIELD, Mich. (AP) — Thomas Chulig, 66, of Troy, a retiree, will have to split his $200,000 in lottery winnings five ways with four friends from the Unholy Five lottery club. Chulig was the big winner in Thursday's Michigan lottery weekly superplay game. Chulig, who retired from Parke-Davis last December, plans to take his fiancée, Helen, on a trip. The $25,000 winner was the 10-member Instant Paupers Club from Alma. The $10,000 winners were Ruth Beday, 32, a housewife from Detroit; Frank Lutenski, 66, of Detroit, retired from Ford Motor Co. after 22 years; and Patricia Waldron, 34, a housewife from Garden City.

Kelley Sues HEW

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The State of Michigan has gone to court seeking $23 million in Social Security funds from the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare. The state claims the federal government owes it about $46.1 million. The federal failure to come through with the money has added that amount to a potential deficit of $300 million facing Michigan. State budget writers counted on the money when estimating revenues. Other suits will follow to pick up the full amount, said a spokesman for state Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley. The suit, in U.S. District Court in Grand Rapids, claims HEW officials should have paid the money for human services in 1971 and 1972, Kelley said.

Democrats Hit Milliken Figures

said it might not exceed 205,000.

That, Fitzgerald said, might mean the state could get by with an additional appropriation of $100 million, instead of $130 million. "There is no firm indication the caseload will go up like that," he said.

In addition, Fitzgerald said, the state should consider continuing to carry the federal money as an asset. He said the federal government is reviewing the state's claim for the money, and he is "prepared to carry" up to $40 million of it.

The two suggestions could cut $70 million off the deficit — thus $70 million off what has to be cut out of the budget.

Sen. Jerome Hart, D-Saginaw, chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee, said Democratic leaders are estimating the needed budget cuts at $80 million-$100 million.

"We're not saying we can" cut the deficit that much, Hart cautioned, however.

Democratic leaders said they are first looking at the validity of Milliken's figures, and not playing with ideas of how to get more money — at least not yet.

That leaves on the sidelines, for now, proposals to raise taxes or to mortgage state buildings to avoid the severe $150 million cut.

Democrats in both Houses are slated to caucus behind closed doors early next week to discuss their approach to the fiscal problem. Both committees should vote down Milliken's order soon after that, paving the way for further bargaining.

But if they are convinced Miller and the governor are right, then their job to find reductions or extra money is more difficult.

"Everybody's waiting for somebody to pull a rabbit out of a hat," said one lawmaker.

Milliken, meanwhile, said that "no amount of diversionary charges or suggestions should obscure the fact that prompt action must be taken now to reduce expenditures." He urged approval of his program.

Swainson's Fate In Hands Of Jury

gor Hoover, late head of the FBI, and a Republican attorney general.

He questioned why the government, which began its probe of Swainson and Wish in early 1972, waited until June of this year to return an indictment.

Swainson, who lost both legs when he stepped on a land mine in World War II, was tense at times, smiling at others during his three hours on the witness stand.

He was questioned first by Kohl and then by prosecutor Ozer on events that led to allegations of a bribery role to him.

Much of the questioning of Swainson centered on a television set he got for a gift, embroidery Swainson had done on jackets for his children, purchase of an oil painting and delivery of three small packages to his home, all with Wish involved.

Swainson denied FBI allegations the TV came from Wish as part of the bribery scheme and said it was a gift from David Auer, a longtime friend and hunting companion.

Swainson said he paid Wish in cash for the embroidery work, and that he paid Wish in cash for a $135 painting Wish picked up for him at a downtown store. Swainson said he did not recall the three packages Wish brought him.

Ozer asked the former governor if he recalled an FBI tape in which Wish was heard to say,

British Generals Underestimated Their Opposition

EDITOR'S NOTE. — They thought the Americans would be a pushover, these British generals who came from London at the start of the American Revolution. How wrong they were.

By DANIEL Q. HANEY
Associated Press Writer
BOSTON (AP) — A few weeks before the Battle of Bunker Hill, three British major generals sailed with cocky self-confidence into the blockaded port of Boston.

They had come to help out the commander of the royal forces in North America, and their task, really, was simple: just rout a flock of headstrong farmers brazen enough to surround the city.

"What?" said Gen. John Burgoyne, one of the newcomers. "Ten thousand peasants keep 5,000 King's troops shut up? Well, let us get in, and we'll soon find elbow room."

Burgoyne, dapper and flamboyant, summed up his comrades' feelings as they arrived in the besieged city in 1775 and learned the situation. Together, the three generals and their commander were the heart of imperial resistance to treason in the colonies. Together, they represented the range of competence from brilliance to bumbling in the British military. And together, they lost the war.

They failed to drive off the ill-trained rebels who kept the British prisoners in Boston. And despite some victories and flashes of genius in the years that followed, they failed, in the end, to hold the colonial settlers as subjects of the Crown.

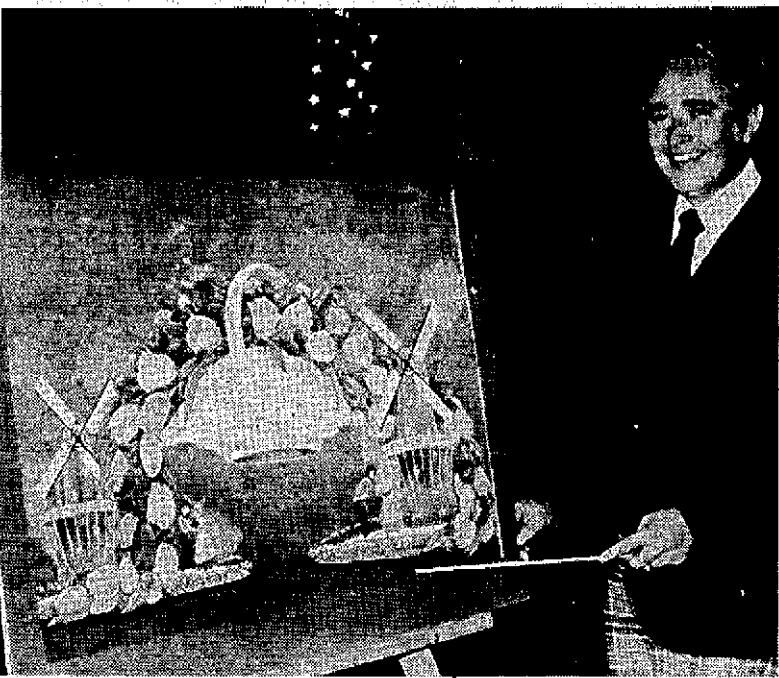

The three generals were typical of the sons of English upper crust of their day, who did not want to be lawyers or clergymen and so took up soldiering. And they rose, through ability or family backing, to the heights of military power.

On that spring day, though, when the frigate Cerberus brought three new generals to Boston, the War for Independence was only a skirmish. The man in charge — in rank if not in spirit — was Gen. Thomas Gage, an affable man with a large, aristocratic nose.

His London-sent helpers — Burgoyne, Sir William Howe and Sir Henry Clinton — were full of suggestions and hardly disguised contempt.

Before the war was over, Gage would be shuffled home for a face-saving consulting job. First Howe, then Clinton, would replace him as director of the military campaign. And Burgoyne would drive his men from glory to humiliation in the wilds of upstate New York.

But on this day, the responsibility was still Gage's. He could not make up his mind what to do, and at heart would have been happy to do nothing.

That was why the help had come.

Gage was almost an American. He had lived in the colonies for many years, had an American wife and owned land. As governor of New York, he had been an amiable man, a good administrator and well liked. And while he understood and sympathized with the colonists' complaints against the king, he underestimated the depth of their feelings.

After the Boston Tea Party, he was made governor in Boston, then a nest of revolutionary rumblings. But during those critical days, he doubted that the Americans would fight, and if they did, he was certain they could be beaten. So he did next to nothing.

Finally, though, he woke up and frantically appealed to London for help.

"If you think 10,000 men sufficient, send 20. If a million are thought enough, send two," he wrote. "... A large force will terrify and engage many to join you. A middling one will encourage resistance and gain you no friends."

When the new generals arrived, the British already had suffered a defeat — moral as well as tactical — when farmers with hunting weapons forced a long, damaging retreat from Concord back to Boston. Now these same farmers, greatly reinforced, lay siege to Boston.

The generals soon got their first taste of warfare. The rebels fortified a nearby rise of ground, and the British charged head-on. They won, in the end, but their losses were disastrous.

General Howe was in charge of the British troops that day, but Gage still had over-all responsibility. And when word of the fight — called the Battle of Bunker Hill — reached England, it was immediately decided to bring Gage home.

Holland Will Send Float To Rose Bowl

By TOM RENNER
South Haven Correspondent
HOLLAND — For several months this community has been taking small, steady steps toward entering a float in the New Year's day Tournament of Roses Parade in Pasadena, Calif.

The campaign, called "Tip-Toe to Pasadena", took a final giant leap this week when Mayor Louis Hallacy II unveiled the final design for Holland's $25,000 entry that will measure 16 feet high, 18 feet wide and 30 feet long.

More than 125 million people across the world view the annual Rose parade, either live, on television or by movie.

Holland officials sought to have an entry in the parade nearly a year ago, noting that while few American cities outside California are ever invited to participate Holland had some unique characteristics which lend themselves to this year's parade theme, "America, Let's Celebrate!"

Hallacy stressed that the float, whose theme will be "America, Let's Celebrate Tulip Time!", will be a tribute to Michigan's many fine communities, festivals and historical attractions.

The $37,500 project is being funded without public funds, according to Hallacy. The community's Tulip Time festival board donated $10,000 to the project.

Construction of the float is already underway in Pasadena by a professional builder. When complete, the float will feature tulips, the flower for which Holland is famous, as well as a variety of other fresh flowers including chrysanthemums, gladiolas, orchids and roses.

A huge wicker basket fashioned of white iceberg chrysanthemums will be suspended the entire length of the float. The basket will be filled with sculptured tulips measuring four and one-half feet tall to represent the one million tulips which bloom in Holland every year in May.

The bridge-like construction of the basket, which will be an unusual feature in the 1976 parade, will form the focal point around which the rest of the float is constructed.

Two animated windmills will be located at each end of the basket. The windmills will represent "De Zwaan", a 200-year-old operating windmill which was moved piece-by-piece from the Netherlands to the Windmill Island municipal park in Holland.

An estimated 6,000 to 7,000 live tulips, which are very rare in California during winter months, will surround the windmills and the base of the float.

Residents of Holland wearing authentic Dutch costumes will be flown to Pasadena to ride on the float, according to Mayor Hallacy.

"This has been a good project not only for Holland, but for the entire state of Michigan," said Mayor Hallacy. "It will give our entire state well deserved national and international attention."

The mayor offered the wish that the University of Michigan football team represents the Big Ten in the Rose Bowl to "make the event complete."

Berrien School Enrollment Up Slightly To 48,165

By SCOTT WILLIAMSON
Staff Writer

There are 48,165 students enrolled in public and parochial schools in Berrien county for the 1975-76 school year. Public schools increased by 288 students — about one per cent — to 43,959, according to the Berrien Intermediate school district office.

The increase in students, however, includes 193 children enrolled in trainable mentally impaired programs and 46 in severely mentally impaired programs, who were not counted in general enrollment last year.

The Intermediate office stressed that the figures have not yet been audited, and are based on the "Fourth Friday" in September count.

A survey by The Herald-Palladium of every parochial school in Berrien county showed total enrollment of 4,204 at the 22 schools — a gain of 191 students.

Enrollment in Lutheran schools is 1,543; Catholic schools 1,315; Seventh-day Adventist schools 1,191; and non-public, non-denominational Christian schools 158. According to the Intermediate figures on public school enrollment, the St. Joseph district showed the greatest total increase with the addition of 89 students over last year's final student count. The next biggest increase came at Lakeshore, which added 84 students. The largest drop was in the Niles district, which lost 89 students.

The figures are based on the "Fourth Friday" counts upon which state aid is based, although parochial schools do not receive state aid. Public school enrollment (with this year's figure followed by the increase or decrease of students) includes:

Benton Harbor, 10,452, up 13; Berrien Springs, 2,384, up 72; Brandywine, 2,505, down 13; Bridgman, 816, down 22;

Buchanan, 2,423, up 2; Coloma, 3,111, up 73; Eau Claire, 1,367, up 51; and Galien, 852, up 24.

Lakeshore, 4,195, up 84; New Buffalo, 1,430, no change; Niles, 6,195, down 89; River Valley, 2,201, up 16; River, 78, up 10; Riverside, 82, down 13; St. Joseph, 4,135, up 89; and Watervliet, 1,855, down 63. The Intermediate district has 78 students, including 31 at the juvenile detention center at Berrien Center and some students in mentally impaired programs.

Lake Michigan Catholic, 847, down 11; St. Joseph (Watervliet), 158, up 20; St. Mary's (Niles), 200, up 30; and St. Mary of the Lake (New Buffalo), 110, down 5.

Lutheran school enrollment is: Christ (Stevensville), 123, up 20; Faith Evangelical (Coloma), 12, up 5; Grace (Eau Claire), 64, down 4; Grace (St. Joseph), 149, up 6; Immanuel (Bridgman), 158, down 6; Michigan Lutheran high school, 148, up 5; St. Matthews Evangelical (Benton Harbor), 165, up 8; St. Paul's (Sodus), 60, up 5; St. Paul's (Stevensville), 134, down 6; Trinity (Berrien Springs), 99, down 5; Trinity (St. Joseph), 327, down 17; and Trinity (Sawyer), 104, same.

Seventh-day Adventist school enrollment is: Andrews University laboratory schools (Berrien Springs), 845, up 65; Berrien Springs, 170, down 15; Eau Claire, 53, up 8; Edith B. Garret (Benton Harbor), 84, up 5; and Niles, 39, up 6.

Grace Christian school in Watervliet showed an enrollment of 95, up 27, and Heritage Christian Academy in New Buffalo listed enrollment at 63, up 44.

Total enrollment in parochial schools according to Intermediate figures is 4,206, while enrollment based on the figures above is 4,107. The Intermediate office's figures are based on changing enrollment, while this newspaper's figures were obtained from principals and superintendents from the original count.

Berrien's Dropout Percentage Highest

By MIKE WYNGARDEN
Staff Writer

The public high school dropout rate in Berrien county was the highest in the state during 1973-74, according to the State Board of Education.

The Associated Press reported today that the state board listed Berrien's dropout rate as 9.93 per cent compared to a statewide average of 6.85 per cent.

The state dropout total climbed slightly in 1973-74 as 43,666 high school students were classified as dropouts compared to 41,354 in 1972-73.

The Berrien county dropout rate for 1973-74 ranged from 20.32 per cent for Benton Harbor Area schools to 1.93 per cent for Eau Claire, according to the Berrien Intermediate school district.

(Benton Harbor school officials said today the district's dropout rate for last school year, 1974-75, was 13.7 per cent.)

The dropout rates for 14 Berrien county high schools in 1973-74, according to Raymond Sreboth, county intermediate school superintendent, were: Benton Harbor 20.32; Niles-Brandywine, 17.09; Watervliet, 10.58; New Buffalo, 10.53; Galien, 10.39; Berrien Springs, 10.34; Coloma, 8.08; Buchanan, 7.84; Lakeshore, 5.95; River Valley, 5.62; Niles Community, 5.13; St. Joseph, 4.96; Bridgman, 4.41; and Eau Claire, 1.93.

The lowest dropout rate in the state during 1973-74 school year for counties was in the Dickinson Iron Intermediate School district, where 2.57 per cent of the students left school before graduation.

The highest state dropout rate in the 12 years such figures have been gathered occurred in 1965-1966, when it was 7.02 per cent.

Dropouts include all students who leave school before graduation for reasons other than death, illness or injury. Those between the ages of 8 and 16 have to attend school under state law.

Lawton Teenager Surrenders

PAW PAW — Van Buren Undersheriff Myron Southworth said a Lawton teenager he was bringing back from Florida in connection with a charge of concealing stolen property fled from custody last night but was recaptured in about 90 minutes.

Southworth said Jeff Walker, 17, got out of a car he (Southworth) was operating when he had stopped at a stop sign at the Paw Paw exit of I-94.

Southworth said Walker surrendered about midnight in a cemetery off South LaGrave street here after being cornered by a state police tracking dog.

The site was less than four blocks away from the exit.

The undersheriff said he had picked up Walker in Largo, Fla., yesterday and had then flown to Detroit, and was almost to the jail when the escape occurred about 10:20 p.m. Walker will be charged with fleeing from lawful custody, Southworth said.

He said Walker was extradited from Florida on a charge of concealing stolen property in connection with the theft of a television, stereo, and several guns from Kalamazoo this past summer.

ADVISORY VOTE ON PAW PAW LAKE

Weed Control Ballots Are Mailed

COLOMA — Advisory ballots for shoreline property owners around Paw Paw Lake to vote on whether a weed control program should be undertaken at the lake next year were mailed Thursday.

John Matthews, secretary of the board proposing the program, said ballots were mailed to 515 resident and non-resident owners of the land situated in both Coloma and Watervliet townships.

Matthews said the ballots are to be returned to the Paw Paw Lake Improvement board no later than Nov. 10 to allow for tabulation before a Nov. 20 public hearing.

Results of the vote, Matthews said, would be announced at the hearing to be held in the Coloma township hall starting at 3 p.m.

The ballot mailing came as the result of opposition to the board's proposed one-year program of treatment of the lake. Under the board's plan, property owners would be assessed at 62½ cents per foot of lakelot front property under a special assessment district to finance the treatment.

Total cost of the program has been estimated by the board at $40,631 with $5,000 coming from a grant through Berrien county government. The balance would be financed from the special assessment on property owners.

The ballot asks property owners to vote on the question shall the Lake Improvement board continue its proposed program to treat the weeds in Paw Paw Lake with two chemical treatments in 1976, with the cost to be shared equally per front foot, for all properties fronting the lake and its channels and outlet at a cost not to exceed 62½ cents per foot, for one year only.

Included in the ballot are explanations of what steps both a yes and no vote will mean, by a majority of the property owners.

A majority "yes" votes will result with the mailing of a special assessment notice to the property owners during the next few months, billing each owner 62½ cents per front foot for their property on Paw Paw Lake.

Andrews University, Berrien Springs, would institute at least 20 lake tests to determine the water quality and effectiveness of the weed control program, under a lake monitor program,

The lake would receive two complete treatments at a depth of 10 feet, and all surface weeds would be removed, using approved chemicals by the Michigan Department of Natural Resources.

The lake board would continue to study the weed program and make future recommendations.

If a majority of the property owners vote "no" on the ballot, no assessments would be made, unless the county board of commissioners request the lake board reimburse them for funds already spent from their $5,000 grant.

There would be no lake wide weed control program in 1976; the lake board will rescind its Aug. 18 resolution to proceed with the weed control program; the lake monitor program with Andrews university would be cancelled; the board will return all unused funds from the county grant to the county and the lake board will ask the townships of Coloma and Watervliet for a joint resolution to dissolve the lake board.

To Preside At State Conference

BERRIEN SPRINGS — Laun Reinholdt, chairman of the industrial education department at Andrews university here, will preside at the annual conference of the Michigan Council of Industrial Teacher Educators, Nov. 3-4, at the Butzel Conference center, north of Detroit. Reinholdt became president of MCITE last May. At the same time, Joseph G. Galusha, AU associate professor of industrial education, became secretary-treasurer, according to an AU spokesman.

Mrs. Ford Accuses County Board Of Slander, Demands Retraction

By JIM DeLAND
Assistant City Editor

The executive director of Berrien County Action, Inc., has charged the county board of commissioners with slander and has threatened to take legal action if she does not receive a "full and unequivocal" retraction and apology. In a letter dated Oct. 23 and mailed to each member of the county commission, Mrs. Helen Ford demanded the retraction and apology within 10 days for statements made in a resolution commissioners approved Oct. 14 by an 11-2 vote.

The resolution was a response to charges of discrimination by the county in hiring practices and division of federal funds contained in a telegram sent to the U.S. Department of Labor Sept. 19 by a black coalition of which Mrs. Ford is a member. Mrs. Ford's claim of slander was based on the phrase "covering up personal and administrative failures" that she says in her letter was directed at members of the black coalition.

However, the text of the resolution reads "attacks on Berrien county and its officials in the weekly performance of the Benton Harbor city commission, seemingly one after another, are the efforts of a few individuals trying to cover up from their fellow citizens their own personal and administrative failures." Mrs. Ford is not presently a member of the Benton Harbor city commission and recently announced her intention of withdrawing as a candidate for a commission seat. Berrien County Clerk Forrest H. Kesterke later ruled that she could not officially withdraw from the race because a legal time period had elapsed and that her name would remain on the ballot for next Tuesday's city election.

Hospital Board Re-Elects Watkins

DOWAGIAC — George H. Watkins, president of the Community State bank of Dowagiac, has been re-elected president of the board of trustees of Lee Memorial hospital here.

Watkins has been on the hospital board for three years and is starting his second year as president. Frank Woods, president of the First National Bank of Cassopolis, was elected vice president of the board. Re-elected treasurer was Albert First, Dowagiac city clerk and Sister Elizabeth Veenhuis, of the Sisters of St. Joseph, was named secretary.

Other board members re-elected for 1976 are: Glenn A. McLaughlin, and Robert L. Gard Jr.

The board also authorized Thomas S. Dube to seek construction bids for the hospital's proposed $2,856,000 addition and renovation project slated for construction next year.

Interested contractors have until Dec. 4 to submit bids, after which the board will have up to 60 days to study the bids and make its selection.

In the meantime, the board plans to proceed with necessary excavating and demolition of two existing structures, so construction on the new building addition can begin in the spring.

$100,000 Awarded In Fatal BH Crash

By SCOTT WILLIAMSON

A Berrien Circuit court jury yesterday awarded $100,000 to the surviving family members of a prominent Scottsdale woman who died in 1969 when her car went off the road and sank in the Benton Harbor ship canal.

The judgment was the highest awarded by a jury in the memory of Berrien Circuit court.

The six-member jury in Judge William S. White's court deliberated nearly two hours before making the judgment against the City of Benton Harbor — defendant in the trial.

Awarded the $100,000 plus $24,000 in interest were Adolph Dongvillo and his three sons, Felix, Henry and Adolph, Jr. Dongvillo is known for his expertise in horticulture. The family farms in the Scottsdale area.

Benton Harbor City Manager Charles A. Morrison said this morning that the judgment will be paid by the company that insured the city at the time of Mrs. Dongvillo's death.

Mrs. Dongvillo died on Aug. 28, 1969, when her car left the Jewel Food store parking lot in downtown Benton Harbor, hit a car on Riverview drive, careened off that into another, then crossed Riverview and catapulted some 40 feet out into the ship canal. The auto submerged in about 30 feet of water, with Mrs. Dongvillo trapped inside while a passerby tried in vain to open the car door and free her.

The plaintiffs in the trial contended the city was negligent for not having installed a barricade along the canal and road. The city did install a guard rail about three weeks after Mrs. Dongvillo's death.

The city contended it did not have a duty to barricade the canal since such an accident could not be foreseen, and also claimed Mrs. Dongvillo's driving was erratic and thus negligent.

The suit by the plaintiffs originally sought $375,000 damages.

Opposing counsel during the three-day trial were St. Joseph Atty. Elden Butzbaugh, Jr., representing the Dongvilloes and St. Joseph Atty. Gary Hosbein representing the city.

Minnesota Hopes To Slow Down Flying Wolverines

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — Minnesota Coach Cal Stoll is looking forward to seeing Michigan's unbeaten, nationally-ranked football team Saturday, but he hopes the Wolverines don't move through too quickly.

"We're very anxious to try and play them," said Stoll. "After all they're a tremendous football team."

"It doesn't appear that

Michigan should have much difficulty with their hosts in the 58th meeting of the two Big Ten schools. The Wolverines, who are ranked seventh nationally, have built a 9-0-2 record primarily with an awesome rushing attack and stingy defense.

This will be one of those games where they have so many ways to get you quickly," said Stoll. "I believe we'll see more speed on the field in one team than ever before in our stadium."

Minnesota, 4-3 overall, picked up its initial conference victory last week with a 31-7 victory at Iowa while Michigan crushed Indiana 55-7.

"We're still a long way from being able to catch the big boys," added Stoll in reference to Michigan and Ohio State. "But we're getting better."

Stoll said Michigan's offense presents numerous headaches to Minnesota coaches, but he is confident the Gophers will be able to move the ball against Michigan's defense, which leads the Big Ten in total defense.

"Minnesota is a good offensive team," concedes Michigan Coach Bo Schembechler, who wasn't completely pleased with the Wolverines' performance against Indiana.

"I would have liked to have been a little more impressed," said Schembechler. "We didn't play that well. We weren't flying around. . . going like we should."

The Wolverine defense is anchored by senior tackle Jeff Perlter, who grew up in the Minneapolis suburb of Crystal and is regarded by Schembechler as one of the best tackles in Michigan history.

However, on the other hand,

Minnesota has six regulars from Michigan including defensive tackle and team captain Keith Simons and quarterback Tony Dungy, the Big Ten's leading passer.

Michigan walloped Minnesota 49-0 last year and Schembechler's impression of his team's showing against Indiana leaves an ominous feeling in the Minnesota camp that he'd like to rack up another lopsided win. Running backs Gordon Bell and Rob Lytle are ranked first and fourth respectively in conference rushing statistics accounting for 246 of Michigan's average of 429 yards a game on the ground.

Freshman quarterback Rick Leach has added another exciting element to Michigan's multifaceted offense.

Schembechler wants to see his charges fly around, but Stoll's hoping they don't fly too fast.

The kicking game was emphasized as the University of Minnesota football team went through a spirited workout Thursday.

Minnesota Coach Cal Stoll said he expects all his players to be in good shape for the game with the exception of Steve Craine. Craine, who suffered a knee injury in last week's victory at Iowa, probably will be out for the rest of the season.

New TV Format In NFL Possible

Season Ticket Sales Declining

WASHINGTON (AP) — A continuing decrease in National Football League season ticket sales could prompt a change in the current television policy, says Commissioner Pete Rozelle.

Rozelle told the House communications subcommittee that the NFL has no current plans to change its format of televising all road games back to a club's home city.

"We may not continue with the regional format if things don't go well over the next few years," said Rozelle. "If attendance continues to go down, and if we feel it is because of the lifting of the blackout on home games, we may have to change the TV format."

Rozelle told the committee that the NFL lost $9 million in revenues, primarily from decreased season ticket sales, during the 1974 and 1975 seasons as a result of the antiblackout law.

The committee is considering legislation introduced by Chairman Torbert H. Macdonald, D-Mass., to prohibit permanently any league-imposed blackouts of games sold out in advance.

Prior to the law enacted in 1973, the NFL refused to permit the showing of any home games.

Baseball Commissioner

Bowie Kuhn was to testify today before the panel.

Rozelle said the NFL football fans have been offered an increasing number of network game telecasts since it began its present contracts in 1961.

"The NFL fan now can see an average of about 74 professional football games on television each season," he said, adding that the anti-blackout laws introduced new risks of local team over-saturation.

"I don't hesitate to attribute a significant portion of the declining attendance at NFL preseason games to the steady diet of home-team telecasts in many NFL cities."

Rozelle said prior to 1974, season ticket sales by NFL clubs had shown a steady annual increase. "In fact, the trend toward wholly sold-out stadiums was relied upon by proponents of the bill as evidence that the league should not be concerned with the law."

"The number of season ticket sales decreased for the first time in NFL history in the 1974 season," he said. "The trend downward has continued into the 1975 season."

Rozelle told the committee that there has been a total decrease of 150,674 season ticket sales since 1973, with 93 per cent of the loss coming from those who were required to televise some or all of their home games locally.

Current plans will keep

Owens away from heavy contact until the middle of next week when the Lions practice with full equipment. Owens, 28, reported to training camp this summer but the Lions said his knee had not healed sufficiently to allow full player status. He has been on the "unable to perform" roster.

On Thursday, the Lions signed wide receiver George Farmer to help bolster the injury-plagued Detroit team.

Coach Rick Forzano said the Lions will determine within 15 days whether to activate Owens to player status. And even if the injured knee hampers his understanding running, he still will be of service as a blocking back.

Owens said. "I have confidence in it. But I'll never know until I try."

Red Arrow Showdown Monday Lakers, Rocks Get Ready

Lake Michigan Catholic and Berrien Springs Thursday night had what coaches like to think of as excellent tune-up games for their Red Arrow conference showdown next Monday in girls basketball.

The Lakers ran past Benton Harbor 60-41 at home while the Shamrocks upset Blossomland conference power River Valley 58-51 on the winners' court. Both squads are 6-0 in loop play.

In other games, St. Joseph won its 15th straight game this season by downing Niles 48-37. Brandywine beat New Buffalo 44-37. Decatur knocked off Lawton 68-30 and Marcellus edged Gobles 39-34.

"It was just beautiful teamwork," beamed Lakers' coach Sue Morningstar of her squad's performance. "We passed the ball real well."

Catholic got nine rebounds and 22 points from Ann Donahue, with most of her scoring done with a hook shot. Carol Lomonaco had 12 points and six rebounds and Helen McQuillan and Shelly Schmid each pumped in seven points. Maureen McCrone chipped in with eight assists.

For Benton Harbor, Hull had 14 points and Tammy Howard added eight. Hull didn't play until the second quarter because of an injury.

The Tigers led after the first quarter, 9-8, but the Lakers got their last break in gear and zoomed out to a 28-17 lead at the intermission and held a 44-27 edge after three quarters.

"We were getting a good outlet pass on the fast break," commented Morningstar. "We've been working on it for two weeks and it really paid off."

Berrien Springs got a good, balanced scoring attack as the Shamrocks surprised River Valley, which is 9-1 in its conference. Teri Moore had 14 points, Diane Umfress scored 12 and Sue Stacey and Janet Hile each netted eight points for Berrien Springs. Debbie Lundin had 19 points for the Mustangs.

St. Joseph had its usual sluggish first half before it blew Niles out of the gym in the third quarter. "We had a poor shooting night and Niles outthrust us most of the night," said Bears' coach Marty Scherr.

St. Joe led 10-8 after one quarter with Laura Thompson netting eight of the Bears' total. She ended up with 11 points. But the Vikings went to work in the second quarter and led at the half, 20-18.

Kay Stickney then got the Bears going in the third quarter as she notched 10 of her game high 18 points in the stanza to give St. Joseph a 33-28 edge after three quarters. "Our defense was pretty good and we shot better in the third quarter," said Scherr.

Niles, now 1-12 this season, got 17 points from Beth Schrumpt and nine more from Lauri Gorton. Andy Gasl added eight points for St. Joe.

The Bears' junior varsity posted a 48-20 win with Sue Plontek netting eight points and Jill Ziebart adding seven.

New Buffalo staged a fourth-quarter comeback, outscoring Brandywine 16-10, but the rally fell just short. The Bisons' Cindy Kail led all scorers with 13 points while teammate Debbie Ramberg added eight. Melanie Barber had 11 for the Bobcats and Pam Yoder scored 10.

Decatur upped its record to 6-4 with its win over Lawton. The Raiders had Janet Alaga, Rose Fuentes and Sue Marciniek all score 14 points as they held an 18-0 edge after one quarter. Carol Clair led Lawton with 12 points and Jodie Reid had 10.

Marcellus, now 10-0, got 15 points from Karen Ringle and 11 from Vicki Perry. Pam Markus and Kelly Smith netted eight apiece for Gobles.

Haywood's Play More At Home

Smith Leads Cavaliers Past Bulls, 108-91

From ASSOCIATED PRESS

Spencer Haywood, the newest Knick, can't wait to get out of town.

Haywood, the object of media overkill since coming to the Knicks from Seattle one day before the start of the National Basketball Association season, is looking forward to New York's five-game road trip to the West Coast next week just to get some time to himself.

"I was just overwhelmed by the whole New York experience," said the soft-spoken Haywood. "The whole New York thing has had me up in the air. I think when we get on the road I'll have some time to calm down."

Haywood has been looking more at home with the Knicks in each outing and Thursday night he looked downright comfortable scoring 28 points and pulling down 11 rebounds as New York beat Kansas City 117-113.

"I felt better tonight, more relaxed," he said. "You can't do anything unless you're relaxed. I came here with a lot of ideas about changing numbers and what not, but it's not going to be like that."

"I'm just going to play my heart out and try to win for the Knicks and then go home and try to live my own life."

Cleveland beat Chicago 108-91 in the only other NBA game played Thursday night. San Antonio edged San Diego 102-100 in the lone American Basketball Association contest.

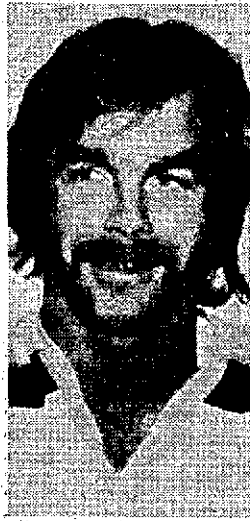

Haywood scored 10 points and pulled down seven rebounds in the first quarter for the Knicks, but ran into foul trouble and was less effective the rest of the way.

The Kings, trailing 26-14 late in the first period, rallied behind speedy Nate Archibald to go ahead 55-54 at the half. Archibald scored 19 points in the first half. He added 14 more in the third period but Walt Frazier and reserve center Neal Walk let the Knicks to an 85-82 lead after three and the Kings never caught up. Haywood and John Gianelli sank two free throws each in the final minute to ice it for New York.

Frazier scored 32 points and Earl Monroe and Walk had 16 each for the Knicks. Archibald finished with 35 points, only two in the final period, and Scott Wedman added 25 for the losers. New York is 2-3 while Kansas City is winless in three tries.

Bingo Smith scored 22 points as Cleveland won its first game in three outings. The Cavs pulled away in the second half and led by as many as 19 points late in the game. Dick Snyder added 17 points for Cleveland while Bob Love topped Chicago with 17.

Larry Kenon's 15-foot jump shot with 22 seconds left gave San Antonio its margin of victory. James Silas topped the Spurs with 29 points, George Gervin added 23 and Kenon had 20. Bo Lamar scored 26 points for San Diego.

Oklahoma, Nebraska Risk Unbeaten Marks

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The college football spotlight focuses on the rugged Big Eight Conference Saturday where Oklahoma, ranked second nationally, and Nebraska, ranked third, put their unbeaten records on the line against traditional foes.

The Sooners, 7-0 this season, will be gunning for their 28th straight victory when they visit Oklahoma State at Stillwater. The Cowboys, 5-2 and ranked 19th, tuned up for the game with a 35-19 shelling of Kansas last week.

Steve Davis runs Oklahoma's awesome wishbone attack and All-American halfback Joe

Washington is the prime weapon. Charlie Weatherbie is due back from an injury for State but sophomore Scott Burk, considered a better runner, may start anyway.

Nebraska, at 7-0 off to its best start since 1971, visits powerful Missouri, 5-2 and rated 12th. If comparative scores mean anything, the Tigers could be in for a long afternoon. The Cornhuskers routed Colorado 63-21 a week ago while Missouri lost to Colorado 31-20 earlier in the season.

But comparative scores don't usually mean much in the Big Eight and Missouri can be tough on a given afternoon as evidenced by its stunning 20-7 upset of Alabama in the season opener.

Both teams have been tough to run against and both have excellent passers — Vince Ferragamo of Nebraska and Steve Pisarkiewicz of Missouri.

Oklahoma is rated a little more than a two-touchdown choice against State and Nebraska is favored by six points against Missouri.

In other games involving the top 20, No. 1 Ohio State hosts Indiana; No. 4 Southern Cal visits California; fifth-rated

Texas A&M plays at Arkansas; No. 6 Alabama meets Mississippi State at Jackson, Miss.; No. 7 Michigan tackles Minnesota; No. 8 Texas plays SMU; ninth-ranked Penn State takes on No. 14 Maryland and No. 10 Arizona State meets Utah.

Elsewhere, it's No. 11 Florida at Auburn; No. 13 UCLA hosting Washington; Navy at No. 15 Notre Dame; 16th-ranked Colorado at Iowa State; 17th-rated Arizona at Brigham Young; No. 18 San Diego State at Pacific and Miami, Ohio, tied for No. 19 with Oklahoma State, hosting Toledo.

Despite some very competitive advertising, neither Ford's Pinto Pony MPG, nor Chevrolet's Chevette Scooter have chosen to compare themselves with us.

There's a reason. We ask you to consider the list on the left, and the box above. You'll notice that, in addition to being America's lowest priced car, our Gremlin goes farther on a tank of gas than anybody's car.

Yet, Gremlin is the only car in its class that offers the performance and durability of a standard six-cylinder engine. And, unlike Chevette Scooter or Pinto Pony MPG, only Gremlin offers the optional convenience of both automatic transmission and factory air-conditioning.

We built our Gremlin to be an economy car. But we also built it to deliver the kind of performance and driveability we think you have a right to expect of any car.

That's why, although Gremlin delivers better than 30 mpg highway and 20 mpg city (EPA Estimated), it offers more horsepower, more road-hugging weight, and a wider track than any car in its class.

And maybe that's why Ford and Chevy conveniently chose to ignore us. But, then again, we think there's a much more important reason.

It's the AMC BUYER PROTECTION PLAN.

Lingle Ends Long, Successful Reign

Headed Women's Association

By JERRY DYKSTRA
Staff Sports Writer

Betty Lingle's successful 15-year reign as president of the

BETTY LINGLE

Southwestern Michigan Women's Bowling Association (SWMWBA) came to an end with her retirement last Aug. 1.

But her accomplishments and dedication to her demanding job as head of 3,500 area women bowlers will live on.

In those 15 years the association has improved in both quantity (an increase of about 1,000 members) and in quality (example: the smooth-running, highly successful women's city tournament).

Betty found out how much the women bowlers appreciated her work last May when she was presented a diamond pendant and a plaque from SWMWBA members for her 15 years of service.

Betty, who also served as second vice-president for two years, misses the job but she thought it was time for a change.

enough for one person... I think it's a bad thing for one person to stay on too long. We needed some new blood. But I'll miss it, in fact I miss it now.

"I really enjoyed my work over those 15 years. What I enjoyed most I guess were the national conventions. They were very informative. I brought back a lot of ideas to our association."

Betty gives credit to her board of directors for much of the association's success.

"I always had a very fine board of directors. They did what they were asked to do and they contributed their own ideas. We got along very well together. I'll miss every one of them."

Betty, who still is on the board of the Fruit Belt junior association, has been a member of the Women's International Bowling Congress (WIBC) for 28 years.

Her biggest thrill came in 1964 when she rolled a 299 game at Gersonde's. She just missed a perfect game as she left the No. 7 pin standing on her final toss. The 299 is the second highest game ever bowled by a woman in southwestern Michigan.

Betty, who lives in St. Joseph and works at Michiana News in Niles, has "about 10 or 12" 900 series.

"I just bowl for fun and I think everyone should," stated Betty. "I just enjoy to bowl and enjoy the people." Jean Brown was elected new president of the SWMWBA last May and took office Aug. 1.

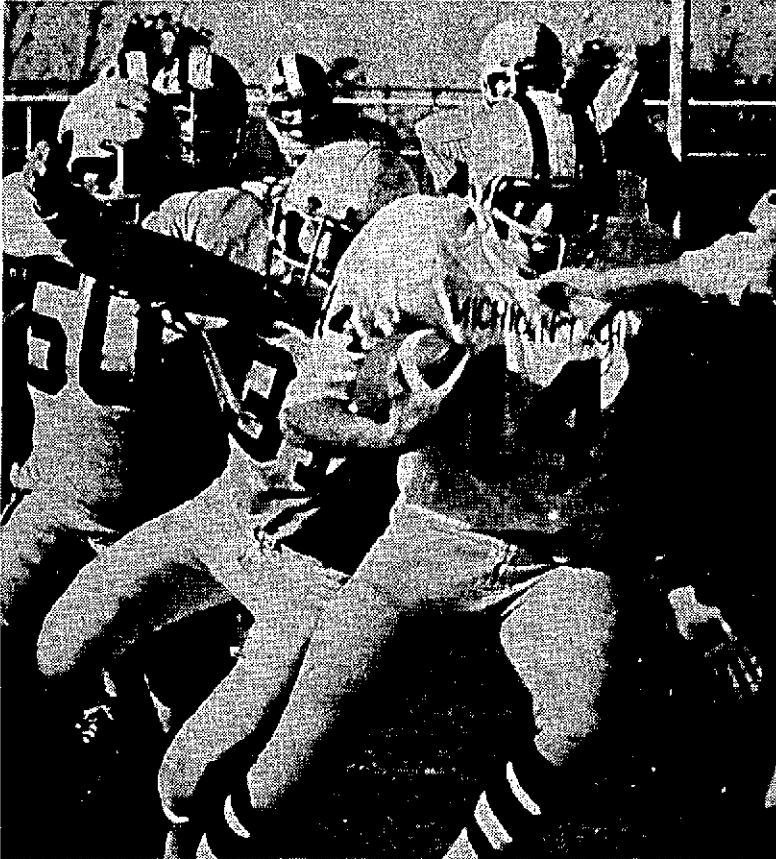

The SWMWBA takes in women bowlers at Blossom Lanes in Benton township, Gersonde's in St. Joseph, Wil-O-Paw Lanes and Coloma Recreation in Coloma, Lakeshore Lanes in Stevensville, Theo's Lanes in New Buffalo and Phillip's Recreation in Three Oaks.

Lee Gallert's 688, which included a 248 game, helped power Louie's Cafe to a 2934 team series last Tuesday in the Twin City league at Gersonde's. The 688 is good for fifth place in the men's high series listings while the 2934 moves Louie's into third place in high men's team series.

A "horn up thumb" slowed down Coloma's Bob Kolberg in bowling in the Buzz Fazio Open Professional Bowlers Association tournament last weekend in Battle Creek.

"I bowled terrible. I tore up my thumb practicing the week before for the tournament... I just rolled too many games in practice," commented Kolberg. Kolberg made a good start and was at one time in 40th place with 56 placers making money. But he failed to make the cut to the top 24 bowlers after 18 games and finished out of the money.

Split conversions this week included the 4-7-10 by Connie Arndt, Dorothy Nesbitt, Virginia Johnson and Barbara Dorgelo; the 6-7-10 by Bill Liles, Joan Ballard, Harry Craft, Deb Maier, Don Baumann and Betty Hand; the 6-7 by Ado Floreani, Jane Furlan, Lisa Mason; Eddie Watkins, Elmer Dubberstein and Kathy Thompson; the 4-10 by Kathy Munson and Louis Boettcher; the 6-7-9-10 by Bob Salvano; the 4-7-9-10 by Charles Drake and Herb Kroening and the 7-10 by Jim Martin. Jerry Stox hit a 141 triplicate, Bob Frazier 139 triplicate and peanut bowler Penny Johnson 54 triplicate.

NORTH SCAMPER: Michigan Tech. quarterback Bob North (14), a former River Valley high school player, scoots for a 37-yard gain as the Huskies routed Southwest State 65-0 last Saturday at Marshall, Minn. He also connected on five of 11 passes for 86 yards and two touchdowns.

Lakers' JV's Rock Berrien

BERRIEN SPRINGS — Kevin Wheeler scored on runs of 60, 21 and 85 and rushed for 245 yards to pace the Lake Michigan Catholic jayvees to a 45-6 romp over Berrien Springs here Friday. Both teams had entered the game with undefeated records.

For the Lakers, now 7-0,

Clancy Rose, a defensive end, came up with a "steal" for a 35-yard TD run while Bill Couvelis tallied one TD and added two PAT runs. Jay Hager scored on a 60-yard run for Berrien. Defensive standouts in the game were Ron Maddux for the Lakers and Brad Dickson and Greg Schaeffer for Berrien.

Hess Sparks

LaPines Win

PAW PAW — Craig Hess scored 22 points, including a pair of free throws in the closing seconds, Thursday night to spark LaPines Inc. to a 58-56 win over Lawton Bombers in the Paw Paw Recreation basketball league here.

Hess' two free throws broke a 56-56 tie and LaPines held on for the win. Chuck Shanahan scored 17 to pace the losers.

In other action Thursday, Mitchell's bumbled Tapper Olds 112-66 and Lovely Lady Homes rolled past Van Buren Motor Supply 72-41.

Dave Anderson scored 24 points to spark Mitchell's to their easy win. Terry Tapper had 18 for Tapper Olds.

Bob Davis' 17 points pushed Lovely Lady to its win. Jerry Darling tossed in 13 for Van Buren Motor.

Super Tailbacks Main Attraction

Michigan Tech Big Choice Over Winless Ferris

From ASSOCIATED PRESS
A pair of super tailbacks will be on opposite sides Saturday in Big Rapids, but that may be about the only fair matchup when winless Ferris State hosts powerful Michigan Tech.

It will be one of 14 games involving Michigan teams this weekend. Tech, with a 6-2 record and fresh off an 85-0 annihilation of Southwest State of Minnesota, features the running of junior tailback Jim VanWagner of Novi. He is the leading rusher in Division II of the National Collegiate Athletic Association with 1,165 yards.

VanWagner, who scored five touchdowns against Southwest State, has scored 17 for the season. His 3,313 yards rushing in his career ranks fourth in Michigan collegiate history.

Ferris, meanwhile, relies heavily on tailback Charley Evans, who needs 185 yards to become the third Ferris State player to hit the 1,000-yard rushing mark.

Among the sophomore's performances this season was a 266-yard game against Saginaw Valley.

Although the Bulldogs have an 0-8 record, Michigan Tech Coach Jim Kapp insists, "They are a good football team. Their record is very deceiving. Look at their scores. With few exceptions they have been in every game. A touchdown here or there and they would be around 500 now."

The schools have faced one common foe, Northwood Institute. Ferris State lost 7-0, while Michigan Tech won on a safety, 2-0.

There are three Michigan Intercollegiate Athletic Association games Saturday: Alma at Adrian, Hope (sporting an 8-0 record) at Albion and Olivet at Kalamazoo.

Wayne State is at Northwood in the only Great Lakes Conference tussle. Other Great Lakes teams play non-league games: Hillsdale hosts West Chester State of Pennsylvania, Grand Valley travels to Northern Michigan and Saginaw Valley visits small college power Edinboro State.

Dutch Drop St. Joe JV's

The St. Joseph and Holland jayvees both scored on their first plays from scrimmage Thursday night at Dickinson Stadium, but the Dutch went on to add three for touchdowns for a 26-14 victory.

St. Joe TDs came on Steve Ziebart, passes of 68 yards to Keene Taylor and 39 yards to Brian Hansen. Ziebart ended up connecting on eight of 19 aerials for 170 yards, with Taylor catching three for 62.

Steve Eckert added 45 yards rushing in 12 attempts and Keith Karsten ran for a two-point PAT as the little Bears slipped to 2-5-1 on the season. Holland is now 5-2.

Top defensive players for St. Joe were Mike Cox and Carl Cziri.

Meeting Slated For YMCA Cagers

There will be an organized meeting of the YMCA church basketball league at 7:30 p.m. Monday on the second floor of the Benton Harbor YMCA. Both the high school and junior high groups will meet.

For further information call Dave Bergman at 927-1371.

BH Winner

The Benton Harbor eighth graders got a 62-yard TD run by Earl Board and a 55-yard scoring pass from Dennis Claborne to Carl Jones to beat Holland 12-0 Thursday. The Harbor defense, which has given up only two TD's all season, was again superb. Harbor ends at 4-1.

Candidates In 3 BH Wards Tell Why They're Running

Today's sketches of candidates in the Benton Harbor election Tuesday, Nov. 4, are on six people seeking three city commission seats from the First, Second and Fourth Ward. One of the candidates, Mrs. Helen Ford, announced last week she was withdrawing, but her name will still be on the ballot.

EDMUND B. EAMAN
First Ward

Edmund B. Eaman, 61, of 1022 Colfax, seeks re-election as First Ward commissioner; engineer for laundry group of Whirlpool Corp.; wife, Helen Jean; three children; chairman, Benton Harbor cemetery board and Benton Harbor Community Development committee; received bachelor's degree in engineering from Michigan State University; registered professional engineer in Michigan.

Eaman said he was running on his record as commissioner for the past four years. "I would like to help rebuild the City of Benton Harbor by encouraging both private and federal agencies to help in this action. The city is going to have to be rebuilt by private citizens with the aid of federal agencies as needed. I will try to do what I think is best for the City of Benton Harbor."

HELEN FORD
First Ward

Helen Ford, 42, of 1118 Colfax, has withdrawn as active candidate for First Ward city commission seat but name will appear on ballot; is executive director of Berrien County Action, Inc.; husband, Charles; three children; member, Berrien County Social Services board; co-chairman of Benton Harbor Bicentennial; vice president, Institute for Family and Community Studies; member, Link, Inc., and Community Development Citizens Advisory board; attended Northwestern University.

Mrs. Ford announced she was withdrawing as a candidate Oct. 23 to keep her seat on the Berrien county social services board. The notice filed with the city clerk said: "I have read in the local newspaper that I am not able to serve on the Berrien county social services board and remain a candidate for the Benton Harbor city commission." The Berrien prosecutor's office recently issued an opinion that running for the Benton Harbor city commission seat while serving on the social services board is in violation of a state statute.

OCIE MITCHELL
Fourth Ward

Ocie Mitchell, 34, of 855 LaSalle, candidate for Fourth Ward commission seat for a two-year term; director of Neighborhood Youth Corps; divorced, two children; member of YMCA board of directors, Benton Harbor chapter of Jaycees, Michigan Black Political Assembly, Benton Harbor area schools vocational education advisory committee, board of directors of Handicapped Camping, and Urban League sponsoring committee; attended Ferris State college.

Mitchell stated: "My platform is to find and apply an expedient and logical answer to the problems of Benton Harbor. There are a multitude of problems in Benton Harbor and they are all inter-related so that you can't deal with one without dealing with them all. You can't solve just one and expect to alleviate anything. My platform is basically to find out what the problems are and to apply those kinds of actions that will lead to a solution to all the problems."

ALFRED WILLIAMS
Fourth Ward

Alfred Williams, 67, of 780 Wauwata, retired; incumbent seeking two-year term as Fourth Ward commissioner; married, three children; member of Berrien County Republican member of board of directors and chairman of credit committee of Peoples Community Federal credit union; member of board of directors of Berrien County Council of Churches.

Williams stated: "I am not seeking the commission seat to be seen or heard but to work to the best of my ability in helping to solve some of the problems the entire City of Benton Harbor faces. Facing us today is one of our major problems, housing, and then jobs and working to encourage more business and industry for the city. "What we need today is first a housing development program so that we will have some place to relocate people who now live in the city before tearing down anymore houses and driving anymore people out of town. I will seek the help of the citizens in the Fourth Ward in directing me in the right direction because I want to see more citizen participation in city government."

Man Charged As ICB Accessory

BY JIM SHANAHAN
City Editor

The FBI Thursday arrested a Benton township man on a charge of being an accessory after the fact in the Oct. 6 robbery of Inter-City bank's Wall Street branch in downtown Benton Harbor.

The FBI said the arrest was made after a grand jury returned a two-count indictment against Kevin Howard, 19, of 848 High Point drive. Howard is accused of concealing Raymond Dunlap in a basement immediately after the robbery and knowing that a felony had been committed.

Dunlap, 19, of 2708 Lake Shore drive, St. Joseph, formerly of Benton Harbor, is jailed in Grand Rapids on a charge of robbing the branch bank of $1,800. He was arrested Oct. 9 when a relative led the FBI to him.

Howard appeared yesterday before U.S. Magistrate Stephen Karr in Grand Rapids, who advised him of his rights and gave him 10 days to obtain an attorney. He was jailed when bond was not posted immediately.

Caretaker Snuffs Fire In Trash

A caretaker extinguished a small fire in a pile of trash in the kitchen of a vacant apartment Thursday. Benton Harbor firemen said it appeared to have been set.

Jessie Williams, 732 Buss avenue, told firemen he found the fire when he went to clean the upstairs apartment at 675 Buss. City police said two young boys were reported seen leaving the building just before the fire was discovered shortly before 10:45 p.m. Damage was confined to the trash, firemen indicated.

Cass Trio Bound To Trial Court

CASSOMOLIS - Three rural Cassopolis brothers, charged with possession with intent to deliver about 440 pounds of marijuana, were bound over to Cass county circuit court yesterday after preliminary examination in district court here.

No date has been set for trial of the LeMunyon brothers, Terry, 27, Dan, 28, and Jan, 22, all of route 3, Cassopolis. They are free on $1,000 bond each.

Capt. Paul Parrish of the Cass sheriff's department said the charges stem from officers going to the residence on Aug. 22 to issue federal arrest warrants for the three. While officers were at the residence, they discovered a large quantity of what they said was suspected marijuana growing in the garden.

About 440 pounds of the suspected marijuana was seized and the three were arrested.

The federal arrest warrants were also issued, Parrish said, and the brothers are free on $1,000 bond each from the federal district court in Grand Rapids on a charge of illegally fermenting mash.

The brothers are also awaiting trial in circuit court on a second charge of possession of marijuana with intent to deliver, according to the prosecutor's office. That charge stems from a June 10 arrest in which about 200 pounds of unprocessed suspected marijuana and 40 pounds of a processed substance were seized at their residence, Parrish said.

Second Ward

Carl L. Brown, 36, of 681 Pavone, seeks re-election as Second Ward commissioner; lifelong resident of Benton Harbor; counselor, Neighborhood Youth Corps; chairman, special city commission investigating committee on Comprehensive Employment Training Act (CETA) funds in Benton Harbor; member, Benton Harbor housing commission; attended Lake Michigan college and Michigan State University; vice president, Bachelor 14 social club; member United Black clubs.

Brown stated: "Being a 'Common Sense' candidate, it becomes an immediate objective to take a logical approach toward solving the problems which plague our city. Emphasis must be placed on resolving the immediate crises of juvenile crime and unemployment. An effective means by which the quality of the city's services may be improved at reduced costs to the taxpayer will be devised and implemented. Extend an invitation to business and industry to cooperate in the revitalization of the downtown at either the present or a new location (riverfront). Protect the rights of the citizen to the fullest possible extent."

Shepherd stated: "I feel that my capabilities as a Second Ward commissioner are that I am a taxpayer and a property owner and I can do a better job for the Second Ward because I have something to lose. I am not a rubber stamp person. I do my own thinking. The commission meetings should be serious business meetings. We have to stop turning the commission meetings into a circus. The present commission spends too much time on issues that could be solved in a matter of minutes."

NEWS OF THE FARM, ORCHARD AND DAIRY

Covering The Greatest Diversified Fruit Producing Area In America

LOCAL-STATE
NATIONALCharges Against MACMA 'Deserve
No Response'

Criticisms of the state's asparagus and apple marketers published in this newspaper last Friday are "completely irresponsible and a distortion of fact."

So say the marketing committees for the Michigan Processing Apple Growers and the Michigan Asparagus Growers in a joint statement released yesterday by Harry Foster, manager of the 'Gras Growers, and Thomas Butler, manager of the Apple Growers.

The statement was issued as a rebuttal to charges made by Ferris Pierson, Sister Lakes grower.

Last week Pierson charged that the marketing committees, both divisions of the Michigan

Agricultural Cooperative Marketing Association (MACMA), have disregarded growers in an attempt to make the Agricultural Marketing and Bargaining Act work.

Text of the statement follows: "The Apple and Asparagus Growers have studied the allegations in the farm page of the Herald-Palladium on Oct. 24.

"The committees feel that the allegations are completely irresponsible and a distortion of fact and do not deserve any response. This statement is jointly made by the following marketing committee members:

"Alton Wendzel, chairman, Ron Baters, Roy Bisnett, Stanley Dowd, Jerry Nitz, Paul Wicks, all of the 'Gras Growers; Howard Gilmer, chairman, Merlin Hauch, James Calderwood, Bill Austin, Paul Bixby, Allen Mandigo, Andrew Jager, Albert Wightman, all from the Apple Growers."

Specifically, Pierson charged that this year individual growers could have gotten 50 cents more a hundredweight for juice apples and four cents more a pound for asparagus.

But, Pierson said, under the Act most commercial 'gras and apple growers have lost the right to market their own crops. Accredited bargaining agents for the commercial growers are the processing Apple Growers and the Asparagus Growers.

Berrien Corn Crop Larger,
Drier Than '74By NICK SMITH
Staff Writer

With cooperation from the weather, combines are rolling through Berrien fields gathering a fairly dry corn crop that could average from 85 to 100 bushels an acre, says Clare Musgrove, Berrien extension agent.

Last year's corn crop, stunted by drought, weighed in at an average of 65 bushels an acre, Musgrove said.

Although there has not been a hard fall frost this year (which kills plant leaves and allows the corn to dry down faster), corn moisture is low now "mostly because of the beautiful days this month," says Gerald "Bud" Totzke.

Totzke, a Baroda farmer, was interviewed one morning this week while he and sons Nick and Ned were harvesting a corn field in Royalton township.

Corn in the field that day measured about 21 per cent moisture. Last year Totzke shelled corn that registered from 33 to 40 per cent moisture at harvest time. Moisture last year was "abnormally high" due to wet weather in October.

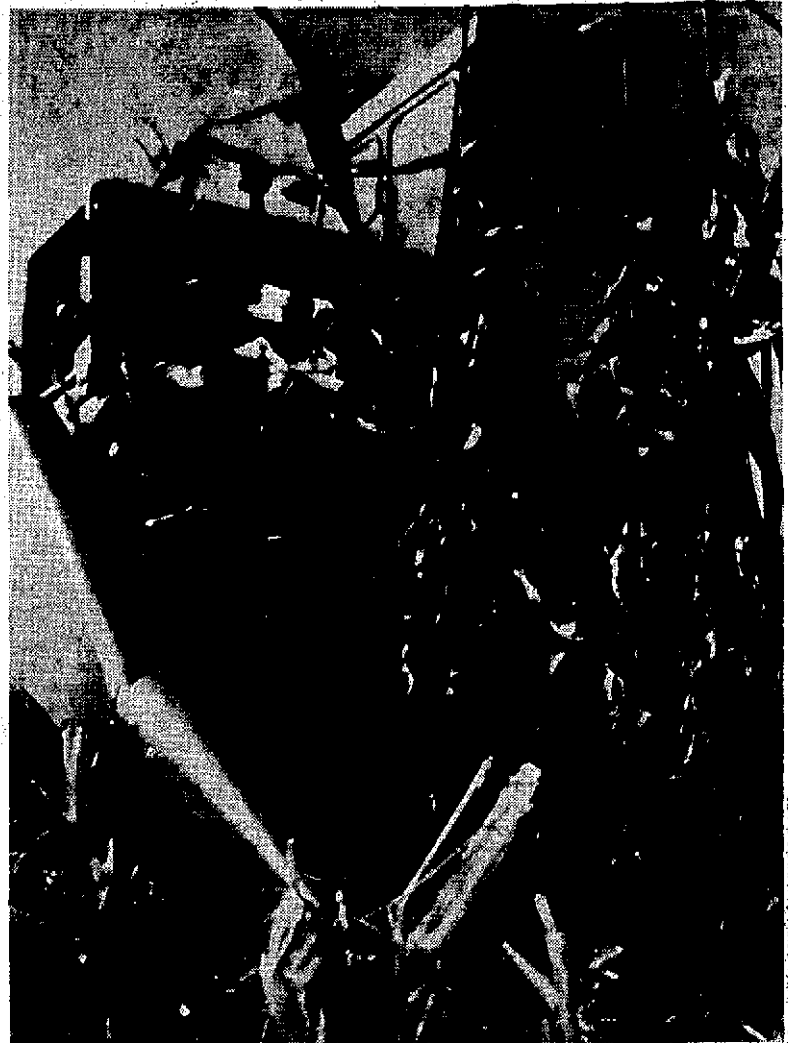

Totzke pointed out that he will dry the corn down to about 15 per cent, a good storage figure.

On the Royalton farm, which Totzke said is being brought back into repair in terms of fertilizers and weed control, yields this year are about 70 bushels. Yields in 1974 were similar, he said.

Generally, "corn is as good a product this year as any," he commented. He sells a good deal of his crop, saving back some to feed dairy cattle.

But, he noted, this year's big crop has pushed prices down about 50 cents a bushel from last year. And, of course production costs are continuing to rise. For example, a combine costs $7,000 more this year than in 1973, he noted.

Michigan Crop Reporting Service says that this year's Michigan corn production is still forecast at 141,980,000 bushels. Such a crop would be nearly 30 per cent larger than the 1974 corn crop, the Service stated.

HARVEST IS ON: Voracious combines are harvesting corn fields in Berrien this year that are yielding at least 20 bushels to the acre more than in 1974. Good weather has dried crop down to about 20 per cent moisture, farmers say. Pictured is combine at work in Royalton township, driven by Nick Totzke, Baroda. (Staff photo)

Search And Tatter

Two Extension Agents Honored

Two Southwestern Michigan district extension agents received awards last week during the annual conference for extension agents at Michigan State university.

Honored were Conrad "Bud" Search, farm management agent, and Jordan Tatter, district horticulturist. Tatter resigns from the service today to join the management team of Southern Michigan Cold Storage. Both men work out of the Paw Paw extension office.

Search, who developed a management principles program keyed to young farm families, was awarded the John A. Hannah award for program excellence. His four-hour program teaches farmers to develop decision making skills.

Tatter was presented the Michigan Association of County Agricultural Agents' President's Award. He was cited for creating a series of grower meetings each dealing with specific crops, and his daily radio programs carried early each growing season which give spray information.

Booklet Lists Fruit Tree Types

Many of Michigan's major fruit tree varieties are listed in a new booklet called Tree Fruit Varieties for Michigan (Extension Bulletin E-581).

Most varieties of apple, pear, peach, nectarine, sweet and tart cherry, plum and apricot are listed. Bulletin describes varieties, telling tree vigor, unique characteristics and fruiting season.

West Michigan Livestock Show Set

Beef, hog and sheep exhibitors from Western Michigan are eligible to enter the West Michigan Livestock Association's annual livestock show Dec. 16 to 18 at the Civic Auditorium, Grand Rapids.

This year's show and sale features a beef carcass contest, showmanship and judging contests and a feeder calf show and sale. A new livestock educational exhibit contest has been added for any youth group wishing to enter, according to Bruce Foster, junior director from Niles.

Americans Prefer Beef To Pork

CHICAGO (AP) — Rising food prices and inflation apparently haven't dampened the American consumer's appetite for beef. A recent issue of Prairie Farmer, a leading farm magazine, reports that beef consumption the first half of 1975 reached a new high of 50.2 pounds per person.

Each American ate two more pounds of beef this year than during the same time last year. Pork consumption, however, fell slightly in the same period.

Corn Husking Contest Set

A corn husking contest for women of all ages will be held during the fall festival of "Yesteryear's Farming" Nov. 1 and 2 from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the Albert Payne Pony Farm, Cleveland avenue, 2 1/2 miles south of Gallen. The corn husking is one of many old farming practices to be shown.

Considering Insect Control Class

A fruit insect control course is being planned for Southwestern Michigan if interest warrants, said Glen Antle, Berrien extension agent.

Questionnaires are now being sent to growers, and if 30 or more people express interest the class will be taught.

Instructor Angus "Gus" Howitt, Michigan State university, will teach the class from 7 to 10 p.m. Wednesdays during January, February and March at the Continuing Education Center, Benton Harbor. The class will cost about $80 if taken for credit and, if not taken for credit, about $50.

MPA Annual Meeting Next Week

The annual meeting of the Michigan Pesticide Association will be held Nov. 5 and 6 at the Olds Plaza hotel, Lansing.

According to Program Chairman, William C. White, of American Cyanamid Company, programs will begin at 9 a.m. each day.

MSU speakers will talk Wednesday morning. The afternoon will be devoted to a discussion of the effect of the EPA on the pesticide industry in future years. MSU extension and research people will speak Thursday with the program scheduled to wind up about 3 p.m.

Prices To Cauliflower
Be Good Tested

The outlook for cattle and hog slaughter prices is good, with next year's prospects indicating a good market, Michigan State University Agricultural Economist Dr. George Dike says.

Red meat production in late summer and early fall was down eight per cent from last year. This has given a boost to slaughter prices.

A large beef supply is in the pipeline moving to slaughter. The expected price of corn will determine how many animals will be delayed in feedlots enroute to slaughter. This will affect the ultimate production and timing of beef supplies.

Sow slaughter has been running under year-ago levels, an indication herds are not being reduced to the extent seen last year.

A new cauliflower variety that shows promise to extend the production season for Michigan vegetable growers is entering the final testing stages at Michigan State university.

MSU Horticulturist Dr. Shigemasa Homma anticipates that variety release may occur in as few as two years, after more commercial grower trials are completed.

He just completed summer trials of 200 varieties from which the new cauliflower will eventually come. Some of these lines have upright, long leaves around the head. The leaves form a stovepipe-like cylinder around the head, protecting it from sunlight for all but a few minutes of the day.

This means the new type won't need hand tying like many commercially used types.

Terminal Market Fees Increased

The U.S. Department of Agriculture has increased terminal market inspection fees for fresh fruit and vegetables.

For quality inspection, carlot fees move from $24 to $26, half carlot or less inspection fees go from $20 to $22 and, when more than one commodity is involved, maximum fee will be increased from $48 to $52 per carlot equivalent.

Fees for condition inspection will be increased from $20 to $22 per carlot and from $18 to $20 for a half carlot or less. With more than one type of item, maximum carlot fee will be raised from $40 to $44.

Carolina
Has Good
Apple Year

CLEMSON, S.C. — The 1975 apple season has been called highly successful by a marketing economist who said South Carolina prices were enhanced by the earliness of the crop, a Clemson university press release states.

Growers get top prices because apples are ready to ship about two weeks before any other area. Most of the crop of 500 truckloads, each with 900 bushels aboard, was shipped from mid-August to mid-September.

Earliest fruit brought $12 a bushel for best large apples and, for fruit bagged in three or four pound sacks, $8 a bushel.

"By mid-September best quality large apples were bringing $8 per bushel and bushels of bagged apples $4.50," the economist said. "In recent weeks, other production areas outside the state have had prices so low some apples are not even being harvested."

CAB OFFICE MOVES

The offices of the Cherry Administrative Board have been moved from Hartford to Watervliet, according to General Manager Frank Owen.

In an economic move that gets the office more in the "mainstream" of the fruit area it is now located at 416 North Main street. New telephone number is 463-3175.

Milliken To Sign Measure Banning Tricks In Treats

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — With trick-or-treaters ready to hit the streets tonight, Gov. William Milliken was expected today to sign into law a bill making it illegal to put drugs or poison into Halloween candy.

The bill, making it a felony to add intentionally "harmful substances" to food, passed the Senate and was sent to the governor Thursday, along with a separate measure to protect workers and job applicants from being forced to take lie detector tests. Both bills were approved 31-0.

A bill allowing hot air balloonists to continue their sport legally passed the House 95-0 and was sent to the Senate. The measure removes sport balloons from a list of illegal firework activities in a 1931 law.

The Halloween candy bill is an addition to a 1970 act banning harmful objects such as pins or glass from food. The lie detector bill reinforces current laws saying employees or job applicants cannot be forced to take polygraph tests. However, some companies have required people to waive that right.

The measure approved Thursday would mean a person could not be forced to waive the right to refuse a test. Under the bill, lie detector tests could still be taken voluntarily.

In other Lansing action: —A second major employee group has said it favors a tax increase to prevent some of Milliken's budget cuts. The Michigan State Employees Association said a 1.5 per cent tax raise would be a "responsible method" of solving a deficit.

Legislative leaders have said a tax increase this year is politically impossible. Milliken has agreed, but left the door open for next year.

—A bill banning a chemical some scientists say could dangerously change the earth's atmosphere has been stalled until next year by a state House committee chairman. The measure, ending by 1977 the manufacture and sale of Freon and similar chemicals as aerosol spray propellants, was tabled by Rep. Raymond Hood, D-Detroit, Public Health Committee chairman. Some scientists charge that Freon, a brandname for halogenated hydrocarbons, will destroy a protective atmospheric layer, allowing too much of the sun's radiation to reach the earth.

NEWS OF MARKETS

Rate Dip Boosts Market

NEW YORK (AP) — Prime rate cuts by two of the nation's biggest banks helped push stock market prices higher today.

The opening Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up more than a point, and gainers took a 4-3 lead over losers on the New York Stock Exchange.

As the market opened, New York's First National City Bank lowered its prime from 7 1/2 to 7 1/4 per cent, matching a cut in the basic charge on corporate loans posted Thursday by the First National Bank of St. Louis.

Shortly afterward Chicago's Continental Illinois Bank announced a similar reduction.

Early prices on the Big Board included Avon Products, unchanged at 40 1/4; Cities Service, up 3/4 at 43 1/4; TWA, up 1/4 at 6 1/2; and Gillette, ahead 1/2 at 30 1/4.

On Thursday the Dow Jones industrial average edged up .70 to 839.42.

But losers outpaced gainers by about a 7-6 margin on the NYSE, and the exchange's composite index slipped .08 to 47.18.

Big Board volume was a moderate 15.08 million shares.

At the American Stock Exchange, the market value index dropped .12 to 82.80.

N-Plant Work Gains Momentum

BAY CITY, Mich. (AP) — Consumers Power Co. says it is speeding up work on the much-delayed Midland nuclear power plant and will spend $180 million on the project next year, three times the original budget for 1976.

Consumers President John D. Selby, a nuclear specialist formerly with General Electric, said construction has been gaining momentum slowly and there now are nearly 500 workers at the site.

Selby revealed the utility's plans for the $1.4 billion twin-reactor plant in a speech here Wednesday.

The plant, about one-tenth complete, is to furnish Dow Chemical Co. with electric power and steam. The first reactor is scheduled to begin operations in 1981, with the second to begin in 1982.

Consumers won a battle earlier this week when the state Court of Appeals upheld a lower court dismissal of a suit to halt project construction. An environmental group opposing the project had charged that hearings leading to federal approval were insufficient.

Selby said the construction slowdown was caused by a lack of capital, not the court action. He said the utility originally planned to spend $80 million on the project next year.

ORONOKO TOWNSHIP Board Votes To Join Ambulance Service

BERRIEN SPRINGS — The Oronoko township board is a step closer to a working agreement that is to lead to an ambulance service for the mid-Berrien county area, according to a township official.

Township Clerk Alex Miskiewicz said that with action of Wednesday night, the board can begin working on articles of incorporation that could create an ambulance authority.

"We haven't been this close in the past," he said.

The board passed a motion at the special meeting to enter mutually with Berrien Springs and any other interested governmental bodies, an authority and or a commission to investigate the formation or operation of an emergency medical service for the area.

The next step, the clerk said, is to write "a good working agreement" with Berrien Springs village, and perhaps Berrien township, for an ambulance service.

Both Oronoko township and Berrien Springs village have been trying since the first part of the year to develop plans for a mid-county ambulance service.

Several people among the 32 attending the Wednesday night meeting claimed the board took no decisive steps in providing an ambulance service for the area.

Robert Bauer said "...we are in the same place we were four months ago."

Mike Williams, also of Berrien Springs, said there are now three plans, which if adopted, that could provide an ambulance service within three weeks.

The Oronoko township and Berrien Springs village areas rely on ambulances dispatched out of Benton Harbor and St. Joseph.

Cut Asked In Profits Made By Lawyers

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The state Labor Department director today urged that lawyers' profits from Workers' Compensation cases be held down to help cut costs of the system.

Lawyers' fees for settling cases of workers off the job because of job-related injuries amount to about $20 million a year, said Keith Molin, labor department chief.

Molin complained that a lawyer who settles a claim quickly through negotiation gets a maximum 15 per cent of the settlement but a lawyer can collect 30 per cent if he draws the case out through litigation.

Molin appeared before a joint legislative labor committee meeting to support a Workers' Compensation bill proposed by Gov. William Milliken.

Milliken wants to limit lawyers' awards to 20 weeks of compensation to remove incentives to prolong a case, Molin said. Milliken also would provide claimants and defendants with legal services of assistant attorneys general, Molin said.

The governor's bill would increase benefits to injured workers and cost an additional $92 million next year, Molin said. By contrast, he said a Democratic-backed proposal that contains a payment of 200 per cent of weekly salary by 1980 would cost about $174 million additional in its first year.

Molin said a balance must be struck between businesses, which finance Workers' Compensation through insurance and taxes, and payments to injured employees. He said rising Workers' Compensation costs could force more firms to go out of businesses or leave the state.

"A business which can't afford to pay its taxes either shuts down or relocates where the tariff is less steep," Molin said.

A bill by Milliken, a Republican, to reform the Workers' Compensation system has been introduced in the legislature, but Democrats are expected to push for still higher wage loss benefits.

The bill, introduced Thursday by Senate Majority Leader Robert Davis, R-Gaylord, will propose benefits that probably will not be as high as majority Democrats will want.

Davis said his bill, referred to the labor committee, had some changes from the Milliken version detailed two weeks ago. Both would raise maximum rates of compensation from the current $136 a week to $203 a week.

The fight is expected to develop over the several workers' compensation proposals submitted to the legislature.

Davis said his bill would increase benefits for injured workers and eliminate some frequently abused provisions of the present law. He called it a "realistic and responsible approach" to the "unrealistic labor proposal" submitted by Democrats.

Davis said that Democratic proposals to base benefits on 200 per cent of the state average weekly wage — instead of 100 per cent as in his bill — "could very easily mean that people in the $15,000 to $30,000 wage bracket would make more with workers' compensation than by working."

The Davis bill would approach compensation on a wage-loss concept, under which benefits are computed according to the amount of wages lost. Democrats would like to see workers also compensated on the degree of injury — so much for a lost eye, for example.

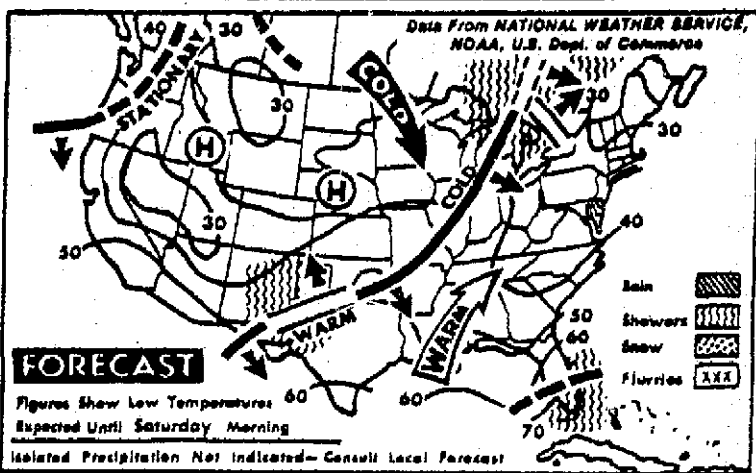

Davis said his bill would also limit the compensation for injured retirees. The amount they could get would be limited to the equal amount of income wages they would get while retired without losing any Social Security benefits.

Davis said the extra cost of his bill is estimated to be between 5 and 10 per cent. He said the labor-backed bill could cost half again or twice as much as the current costs.

"Michigan has always been a leader in the workers' compensation area, and we should continue to be," Davis said. "But increasing the cost of our compensation system even more will make existing Michigan industries think twice before expanding their operations here, and discourage outside industries from locating here at all."

South Haven Utility Board Mulls Sewer Tap Request

By TOM KENNER
South Haven Correspondent

SOUTH HAVEN — Another request for municipal services from a South Haven township business faced with health department closure because of a sewage problem was presented to the South Haven city's Board of Public Utilities during its regular monthly meeting last night.

Representatives of Ma's Coffee Pot, a 24-hour restaurant at the M-140 interchange of I-196, said they have been threatened with closure by the Van Buren health department because their septic sewer system is inadequate.

The restaurant owner, Richard Stieve, asked permission to connect to a sewer line that ends approximately eight-tenths of a mile from his business. The owner said he would bear the expense.

Permission is being sought on a temporary basis pending completion of negotiations of an agreement between the city and township on a sewer extension agreement.

Board members noted that an engineer's evaluation of the line in 1973 indicated it is already overtaxed and should not have any additional tap-ins.

Stieve's attorney, Glenn Sperry, estimated the restaurant would produce about 1,500 gallons of effluent a day.

The board agreed to again consult with its engineers and promised a decision at its Nov. 20 meeting to allow Stieve to respond to the health department by its Dec. 1 deadline.

In other matters, the board referred to the city attorney a claim from Irvin Hamilton of Evanston, Ill. that he be reimbursed $1,239 to cover his share of the cost of extending a water line to serve the Evergreen Bluff subdivision 20 years ago.

The extension was done in 1955 and Hamilton has been trying to be reimbursed for nearly a decade. No signed contract has been located although other documents in the city's archives indicate Hamilton was promised a refund.

The board commended Cyrus Grimes, superintendent of utilities, for being elected to the board of directors of the Michigan Municipal Electric association.

The board authorized an additional $3,384 expenditure to purchase steel for an addition to the Lovejoy street electric substation.

The low $3,766 bid of Overhaul Motor Sales of South Haven for a half-ton pickup for the electric department was approved.

The board received a report from its consulting electrical engineer J. B. Sims on the status of an attempt by the Indiana & Michigan electric company to end its contracts with wholesale power customers such as the city. The city has been notified that I & M doesn't plan to renew its contract when it expires in July, 1979.

"I&M says it wants to get out of the wholesale business, but it looks more like they are trying to pressure the municipal utilities into selling out," Sims said.

He predicted that municipal power systems in the future would be asked to "buy a piece of the action with the private utilities by participating in the financial aspects of building new plants.

He also forecast that municipal utilities would pool their resources to build generating facilities in the future.

Car Crash Kills Two

Two elderly Dowagiac women were hospitalized as the result of injuries sustained in a collision Thursday between their car and one driven by Benton township treasurer Joseph Postelli, state police of the Benton Harbor post said.

Reported in "serious" condition with a broken pelvis and ribs at Mercy hospital, Benton Harbor, today was Charlotte Bakeman, 73, route 4, Dowagiac. She was a passenger in a car driven by Maleta M. Bakeman, 78, also of route 4. Maleta Bakeman was listed in "fair" condition at Mercy with broken ribs, finger and kneecap. Postelli, 33, route 4, box 65, Benton township, was treated for minor injuries and released from Mercy.

Trooper Ronald Olson said the head-on collision occurred about 9:45 a.m. on M-139 just south of Napier avenue, Benton township. Olson said Maleta Bakeman was ticketed for an improper left turn.

ST. JOSEPH PUBLIC SCHOOLS

REPORT FROM THE SUPERINTENDENT

The fiscal report shows that for the first time in several years the school district has operated a balanced budget. Thanks to the generous support of the voters, a special tax voted in August, 1974, erased the last of a large operating deficit. Even though an unexpected cut in state aid reduced income by over $36,000 last spring, accurate forecasting on expenditures and careful budget administration kept our operating fund "in the black."

Voters approved a five-year operating millage last March, which enabled us to eliminate three-year millage increases with one of our employees. No aspect to live within our means, although some services have been reduced and some class sizes have been expanded. Failure to gain approval for removal of the millage would have caused severe problems in meeting major building repair needs for our $21,200,000 investment in schools. This money is needed to protect the public's investment in the schools.

We have to find ways to assess our educational programs, define its work points, and take immediate measures to strengthen the curriculum, within the framework of a balanced budget. St. Joseph schools have been recognized for their excellent programs for over half a century, but testing on our laurels is not the answer to coping a first rate school. Speaking personally, I have accepted the challenge to maintain and improve the community which gave me a public school education equal to any in the state. Like you, I love St. Joseph and am grateful to be privileged to live here once again!

Burt Aldrich

Maybe Safety Campaigns Are Getting To American Motorists

By DON OAKLEY
NEA Correspondent
CLEVELAND — (NEA) — Whether it's because of the 55 mile-per-hour speed limit, less driving because of the high cost of gasoline, or because safety campaigns are beginning to sink in — or maybe a combination of these and other factors — Americans have been making tremendous progress in reducing the slaughter and mayhem on the highways.

Accidents in 1974 were down 7.4 per cent from 1973, or from 25,649,000 to 23,744,000.

There was a 10.7 per cent cutback in auto deaths, from 55,511 to 46,200 — the lowest total since 1964.

Even so, the monetary cost of traffic accidents in the United States in 1974 reached a new high of more than $30.4 billion — the equivalent of $145 for every man, woman and child in the country.

The reason, according to the 1975 edition of Insurance Facts, published by the Insurance Information Institute, was inflation. Double-digit inflation,

That, combined with inadequate rate levels for many insurance lines and intense price competition among some companies for commercial business, produced a net underwriting loss of some $2.66 billion, says the fact book.

While the Consumer Price Index reflected an average increase of less than 1 per cent in auto insurance premiums during 1974, the cost of a semiprivate hospital room went up 16.4 per cent, physician's fees 13.6 per cent and auto repair costs 14.5 per cent.

TODAY In History

By ASSOCIATED PRESS
Today is Friday, Oct. 31, the 304th day of 1975. There are 61 days left in the year. This is Halloween.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1517, Martin Luther nailed his 95 theses on the chapel door at Castle Church in Wittenberg, Germany.

On this date: In 1754, Columbia University had its beginning when a royal charter was granted to King's College in New York City.

In 1864, Nevada became the 36th state.

In 1955, Britain's Princess Margaret said in a radio broadcast: "I would like it to be known that I have decided not to marry Group Capt. Peter Townsend."

In 1956 Britain and France bombed Egypt in the Israeli-Egyptian War.

In 1959, a former U.S. marine in Moscow, Lee Oswald, told newsmen he would never return to the United States.

In 1966, President Lyndon Johnson was enthusiastically received on a visit to Seoul, South Korea.

Ten years ago: President Humberto Castelo Branco of Brazil was consolidating power under decrees giving him dictatorial authority.

Five years ago: The worst floods in six years in South Vietnam claimed at least 150 lives and left more than 180,000 persons homeless.

One year ago: U.S. Secretary of State Henry Kissinger flew from New Delhi to the capital of Bangladesh, Dacca.

Today's birthdays: Prince Norodom Sihanouk of Cambodia is 53. Actress Barbara Bel Geddes also is 53.

Thought for today: All things come to him who waits — provided he knows what he is waiting for. — President Woodrow Wilson, 1856-1924.

JOHN P. ROCHE A Word Edgewise

Secretary of State Dean Rusk, a man with a vastly underestimated sense of humor, once observed wryly that a broken clock was preferable to most others: it would be exactly right twice a day. This came to mind in connection with the current attacks on various intelligence agencies for not calling the shots on Cyprus, the Yom Kippur War, the military coup in Portugal, and other assorted events. Let us examine some of the variables that must be considered in the effort to predict with precision what is going on in other people's minds.

Paradoxically, one of the major problems is the surfeit of information. The National Security Agency's computers and monitors are cooperating day and night in reading everybody's mail. Indeed, things seem to have reached the point where we learn from decoded intercepts what they have learned from reading our mail! Presumably, since the Soviets are amateurs at this business, the K.G.B. is probably learning in similar fashion what we have learned from reading their reports of what we have learned from their communications. This could easily go on to infinity.

In any case, with all this stuff piled up the analyst faces an appalling problem: he or she must, in Roberta Wohlstetter's phrase, "separate the signals from the noise." As she pointed out in her fascinating book, "Pearl Harbor: Warning and Decision," our failure to anticipate the Japanese attack arose from concentrating on the top code, "Mystic," while neglecting the simplest, PA-K2, in which Japanese Consul General Kita, on Dec. 5 and 6, 1941, gave elaborate details of the Pacific Fleet's strength at Pearl Harbor. These were not decoded until after Dec. 7!

Then there is the old problem of crying "wolf" too often. This happened with the Berlin Wall in 1961 and apparently with the 1963 Middle East war. In the former case, there had been rumors for months about impending Soviet and East German action to close the boundary. They all turned out to be dry runs, those intelligence officials who took them seriously were somewhat discredited, and when the wolf suddenly appeared, all hands were taken by surprise. In similar fashion, the Syrians and Egyptians had been maneuvering along Israel's borders for some time. An Israeli general mobilization practically shuts down the economy and, bolstered by a tendency to underestimate Arab capabilities, intelligence estimates (including our own) emphasized the element of bluff.

Finally, how can you reach a conclusion about somebody else's intentions if he hasn't made up his mind? It is, for example, generally assumed that the former Greek junta ordered the Greek officered Cypriot National Guard to overthrow the regime of Archbishop Makarios. I suspect in general terms this was on the agenda, but until I see evidence to the contrary I will remain convinced that the locals took the initiative without clear instructions. The reason for this is simple: Makarios was scheduled to leave Cyprus for Romania and China in two weeks. Any sensible coup-mongers would have figured the job would be more easily accomplished with him away and waited a fortnight. If this was in fact the way things occurred, one can hardly blame the C.I.A. in Athens for not tipping off Washington.

I suspect much the same thing occurred in Lisbon when the military overthrew the Caetano government. The situation was chaotic, generals were doubtless jabbering away about what a fine idea a new regime would be, but did General Spínola actually have the whole thing sandboxed? In Saigon between 1961 and 67 there were innumerable "telephone coups," our State Department was convinced President Diem would be overthrown in Aug. 1963, and after he was disposed of three months later, hardly a month passed without rumors of impending coups — most of which were hooked up by bored reporters.

Church Group Seeks Funds For UNICEF

The youth fellowship of the First Church of God in St. Joseph will hold a door-to-door solicitation of money for UNICEF in the neighborhood of Memorial hospital Sunday afternoon.

The fund-raising effort is scheduled for 2-4 p.m.

This year marks the 25th anniversary of the trick-or-treat type campaign for UNICEF, the United Nations children's fund.

The worldwide goal this year is $80 million to combat hunger, disease and other effects of poverty among children.
